NAZI PRISONERS ARE CAPTURED IN YORK COUNTY

The two German prisoners of war who escaped eight days ago from the prison camp at the southern edge of Gettysburg were captured on Tuesday about 10:30 a. m. at a farmhouse five miles southwest of York by troopers from the York state police substation, summoned by a farmer who had been asked for food by the fugitives.

The prisoners, apparently in good health and excellent spirits, were taken into custody by the officers without any show of resistance or any effort to escape when the police appeared.

One of the prisoners wore the shirt of his German Army uniform when captured. Neither wore the blue denim overalls described as their garb in first reports of the escape. They were wearing brown and olive drab trousers and shirts which they said they had since leaving Gettysburg.

Turned Over To Army

The prisoners were taken to the York state police substation where they were met by a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had been working out of York on the escape. The Gettysburg camp was notified by telephone and police at York said they understood guards were being sent from here to York to take the men into custody. The FBI told The Gettysburg Times this noon that the men were turned over to military officials.

The capture was made in Spring Garden township four and a half to five miles west of York and south of the Lincoln highway. The farmhouse is located near Indian Rock dam.

Sgt. Lloyd B. Gibbs, a former resident of York Springs and graduate of Gettysburg high school, now stationed with the state police at York, told The Gettysburg Times this morning that the prisoners were detained by a farmer who had been tipped off by police Monday evening that the fugitives were in the vicinity. The officers found the prisoners in the back yard of the farm house. The capture was made without any difficulty.

Apparently food was used by the farmer to detain the men until the officers arrived.

Had Camp Raincoats

The prisoners had with them their camp raincoats on which the letters "PW" were still in place. The letters did not appear on any of the clothing they were wearing when captured. The prisoners were not armed.

They seemed in good spirits and smiled continuously in the York police station.

Their English was described by the York officers as "poor" and little information had been secured about their movements since they escaped over the stockade early last Monday morning. It brought on a two-state manhunt led by the FBI with local authorities and state police being required to run down a steady stream of "tips" from nearly every part of this county and in many sections of the state.

They were described this morning as being apparently in good condition. One was badly in need of a shave. The other's beard was very light.

Used Hideout

The prisoners, Thomas Kostaniak, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22, both infantry sergeants in the German Army before their capture, were taken into custody by these state policemen from York: Sergeant Gibbs, Cpl. A. J. Swalinicki, Pvt. Leslie Jackson and Pvt. J. A. Tappe.

Police disclosed they had searched that section Monday evening after justice of the Peace John F. Strickhouser, of York-New Salem, reported he had come upon two men answering the description of the prisoners in a hideout along a stream where he was fishing.

The search Monday evening was fruitless. The farmhouse where the capture was made today was about a mile and a half from the hideout along the stream.

The FBI said last week that the prisoners are not guilty of any crime under international law and will not be subject to punishment for escaping from the camp here.

SILVER STAR FOR LT. G. L. SHARRER

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Second Lt. Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, has been awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Son of Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Lieutenant Sharrer served with a field artillery unit of the 36th "Texas" Division.

Sharrer as artillery forward observer stationed at an observation post with the infantry company, skillfully judged the occupied positions on a hill and added concentrations to the prepared defensive firing. He valiantly held his post all day and, on the following morning put his radio into operation under a heavy artillery barrage.

In the furious enemy attack which followed, Sharrer directed accurate fire that was essential to the repulsion of the enemy.

He disdained personal security in the face of tremendous enemy fire and tirelessly transmitted his orders until fatally wounded.

SOLDIER IMPROVING

The War Department has advised Mr. and Mrs. Eric R. Dearborn, Carlisle street, that as of June 24 their son, Pvt. Dale E. Sgt. Rider, 21 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Rider, has taken part in six combat missions. A 1941 graduate of Gettysburg high school, he was an aircraft mechanic at Olmsted Field, Middletown, before entering the army February 1, 1943.

HONOR ROLL TO BE ERECTED AT EMMITSBURG

At a special meeting of the Emmitsburg town council Saturday evening in the town offices, it was decided to erect a Service Honor Roll including the names of all the men and women from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg vicinity who are in the service of their country. It was also decided to include cadet nurses in this group.

To defray the expenses of the project and give everyone an opportunity to share in its support, it was decided to form a sponsor club. Parents, wives or friends may participate by sponsoring their service man or woman at the rate of $1 per name.

The contribution of one dollar, along with the name of the service man or woman may be mailed or handed to anyone of the following committee: Louis Stoner, Charles Rowe, Mrs. C. C. Combs, or Earl Gelwick up to August 10.

A sponsor list will be compiled and published as soon after that date as is possible.

The date and site for the formal dedication for the Service Honor Roll will be announced in the near future. Mrs. Robert Daugherty, general chairman, will announce all committees connected with this project early next week.

The town council also desires to compile a complete list of the men serving their country from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg district. "This can only be done by the complete cooperation of everyone in the community," Burgess Joseph Hoke said today.

"Will you please mail or hand the name, serial number and complete address of your service man or woman to Miss Irene Shorb or Luther Kugler at once," Burgess Hoke asked.

N. O. MAN HURT IN NORMANDY

An Army Medical Corps man, crawling on all fours, carried S. Sgt. Faber O. Overbaugh, through a hail of lead after the New Oxford youth had been wounded by shrapnel in Normandy.

S. Sgt. Overbaugh told of the rescue, disclosed that he had been wounded and revealed that he has been awarded the Purple Heart in a letter to his father, Clair Overbaugh, Carlisle street, New Oxford, received on July 3.

Sgt. Overbaugh, writing in a hospital in England on June 28, the day on which he was presented with the Purple Heart medal, stated that he was struck by shrapnel in the left foot while participating in the invasion on French soil.

For a time, S. Sgt. Overbaugh was confined to a field hospital in France, and was then removed to England.

Sgt. Overbaugh, in his letter, commended the efficiency with which the medical corps functions. He said that little time passed after he was hit before he was being given first aid.

"The medic who carried me back was crawling on all fours with me on his back and lead spitting all around us," Sgt. Overbaugh writes. "From what I saw all about me I consider myself lucky at that."

The young man, who is 29 years old, entered the Army in January, 1941, among the first boys to go into the service from New Oxford. He was sent from New Cumberland to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he was stationed for two years before being moved to Camp McCoy, Wis. He went overseas in October, 1943.

BEGS COUNTY TO CONSERVE SCRAP PAPER FOR WAR

Donald M. Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board, today appealed to Adams counties to exert their efforts to save waste paper, one of the vital war essentials.

The appeal was made in a telegram to The Gettysburg Times in which Mr. Nelson cited the urgent need for more waste paper. His telegram follows:

"Six months ago when the shortage of waste paper imperiled vital war production I appealed to the American press to launch the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign. The newspapers have given generously of their leadership and valuable space with the result that waste paper receipts have been increased by nearly 100,000 tons a month. This is fresh evidence of the power of a free and patriotic press. Since the inception of the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign under the chairmanship of Edwin S. Friendly, I have been in constant touch with this gratifying program. Good as the record has been, however, I call today on the newspapers and their readers for still greater efforts in the salvaging of waste paper."

Some Mills Close

"Right now many mills with important war contracts have almost exhausted their supply of this vital raw material and some have been forced to shut down temporarily. The situation is critical but fortunately can be remedied quickly by greater public cooperation in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign."

"A survey recently made public by the Department of Commerce indicates 82 per cent of all salable waste paper in the United States is available from industry and 28 per cent from homes and farms. In your city approximately 1.3 pounds of household waste paper per person are available each month in addition to 42 pounds per person on surrounding farms. These figures provide for the first time monthly quotas for your area and should prove helpful in stimulating household collections."

"Despite the excellent cooperation of the public and the 17,000 salvage committees collections have averaged about 588,000 tons a month in 1944, or 79,000 tons short of our monthly goal. Receipts in May were 622,000 tons or 45,000 tons below our quota and for June we are receiving only 84 per cent."

Hurts War Effort

"Obviously continuation of this dangerous situation will not only jeopardize war production but cause further curtailment of the diminished allotments of civilian paper. A new study made through the courtesy of the Gallup Newspaper sponsorship reveals only 63 per cent of our families are saving waste paper regularly and only 67 per cent are convinced of the need of waste paper. This is astonishing in the light of your generous support."

"Waste paper is the nation's number one critical war material so essential the army is now preparing to salvage what little they can in the North African and South Pacific combat zones. Therefore I appeal to every man, woman and child of your county to redouble his efforts in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign in cooperation with your newspaper."

Driver Is Fined After Auto Crash

Mrs. Marie S. Zentz, 40, Thurmont, Md. R. 2 paid a fine of $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge brought before Justice of the Peace Ellis Stone, Liberty township, Wednesday afternoon following an accident south of Fairfield on the Zora road.

Pvt. Harold Steads, who investigated the accident, laid the charge. Mrs. Zentz, according to police, drove into the rear of an ice truck of which Roscoe C. Fitz, Blue Ridge Summit, was the driver, while the truck was parked along the road. Damage totaled $325. No one was injured.

BOY IS BURNED PAINFULLY AS BOMB EXPLODES

Painfully burned about the head, face, left hand and legs, 11-year-old David Glass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glass, Emmitsburg R. 2, is recovering in the Warner hospital from injuries he received when a small "siren" bomb, found in a field near the Glass home after soldiers from a nearby camp had been on maneuvers there, exploded on Tuesday evening while the boy was within three feet of the missile.

Both the boy's eardrums were ruptured by the concussion and it was feared at first that he might lose his vision but doctors now believe his sight will be restored.

The boy told his parents that two older boys found the small bomb and its fuse in a field. The boys placed it on the roadway, piled gravel around it and Glass touched a match to the fuse. The blast seared his face and the front part of his head. His left hand is badly burned and his legs were burned and injured by bits of gravel scattered by the explosion.

Officers Investigating

Mrs. Glass said Wednesday that the blast was heard from a distance of five miles. Mr. and Mrs. Glass, who had just retired, were aroused by the explosion about a mile away. They took their son to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, and from there he was taken to the Warner hospital.

The mishap occurred about dusk as the boys walked across the fields the soldiers had used in their maneuvers earlier in the day. David said he had been with the soldiers and had a "jeep" ride earlier.

The Glass home is about seven miles from Emmitsburg to the south of the road leading to Taneytown. Officers from Camp Ritchie were investigating the accident Wednesday.

The boys that were with Glass when the explosion occurred suffered loss of hearing. The bomb was described as being two or three inches in diameter and four or five inches long.

BOY CRITICAL AFTER ACCIDENT

Donald Boland, 17, Fairfield R. 2, is in a critical condition in the Warner hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, multiple fractures of the jaw and face bones and lacerations of the right arm, forehead and face. Injuries he received when he was knocked from his bicycle in a collision with an automobile a short distance north of Emmitsburg on the Gettysburg road, Sunday evening.

Boland was riding toward Gettysburg and following a car when he swung to the left to go around the machine ahead of him as a car from Graceland, Maryland, passed, headed in the opposite direction. Boland's bicycle struck the side of the machine and the boy was thrown to the roadway. One handle of a car door was knocked off by the impact.

The motorist took the boy to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg. From there he was brought to the Warner hospital where his condition this afternoon was described as "not at all good."

The boy resides with his grandfather, William Winebrenner, along the Gettysburg road, near Emmitsburg. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boland, Fairfield R. 2.

CHANGE GAS RULE

In a further effort to cut into black market dealings in gasoline, the OPA today provided that qualified operators of fleets of official or commercial motor vehicles may use ration checks in paying for gasoline delivered into the tanks of units of their fleets. The new method will substitute for the present one under which ration coupons are handed over by the drivers at the time gasoline is transferred.

Promoted

H. George Hanawalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hanawalt, 233 Baltimore street, who recently was promoted to the rank of captain in the Army Air Corps. He is an instructor of officers at Laughlin Army Air Field, Del Rio, Tex. A graduate of Gettysburg high school, he was in his senior year at Gettysburg college when he was called into the service.

Grenade Bit Crazes Nose Of Guy Kump

By HAL BOYLE

With American troops in Normandy, July 2 (Delayed) (AP)—Pfc. Guy Kump, of Gettysburg, Pa., crawled back to get two men who straggled away from his squad only a few miles from the front line. They were moving across country to rejoin their company.

Suddenly he heard two Germans less than five feet away on the other side of an earthen hedgerow fence. They heard him too and, before he could move, one lobbed a grenade over which hit four feet from Kump and exploded.

"Somebody must have been looking out for me on that one," he said. "I saw it lying there a second looking like a chicken egg with a stem on it and suddenly it blew up with a big bang and flash, dazing me for a second. But all that happened was that a small piece grazed the tip of my nose."

Kump and the two Germans simultaneously exited in three directions.

Such surprise encounters happen daily in this ambush country.

"Why didn't you keep your head down," asked Pfc. Raymond Latham of Mason City, Iowa, a fellow infantryman.

"Then I would have lost my face," said Kump. "They always tell you not to lose your head. Brother, that's the advice I followed."

Pfc. Guy Kump is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kump, of near McKnightstown.

MERCURY HITS 97 DEGREES

The highest official temperature for 1944 in Adams county was recorded Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Arendtsville laboratory when the mercury soared to 97 degrees. It had reached 94 degrees by 1 o'clock in the afternoon and despite partly overcast skies continued to climb to a record for the summer.

The weatherman promised no immediate relief from the heat wave that has sent temperatures into the nineties for the most of this week.

The high temperatures add to the severity of the drought which already has caused considerable damage to corn, soy bean and oats' fields while fields of tomatoes being grown commercially for the county canning factories also are badly in need of rain.

Ideal harvest weather is proving serious for many Victory gardens that are suffering from a shortage of rainfall before the current hot wave arrived. Weather records here for the month of June showed that less than half of the normal amount of rain for the month was received here with the shortage amounting to more than two inches.

GIT'S PROMOTION

Mrs. Ray Miller has received word from her husband, Pfc. Ray Miller, who is stationed somewhere in England that he has been promoted to T-5.

WARNS COURTS WON'T SHIELD MEN FROM ARMY

The Adams county courts cannot be used as a means of evading induction into the armed forces, Judge W. C. Sheely declared emphatically Saturday as he suggested that John H. Smith, Jr., Hanover R. 3, volunteer immediately for the armed forces or face court sentence in August.

Smith was accused by the court of using a court parole order to keep out of the army. It was charged that he stopped making payments on a $400 debt to his father, one condition of the parole, so that he would remain under the jurisdiction of the court and thus evade induction. Smith told the court he had tried to volunteer but that "somebody stopped it."

Smith's court record shows that he was arraigned in April court in 1943 on two charges of forgery involving checks totaling $200 and that he was sentenced to serve six months in jail. He served 60 days and was paroled on condition that he repay his father for the sums the latter had to lay out to compensate those who lost money by young Smith's forgeries.

Now Free to Enlist

In court Saturday young Smith admitted he has paid his father only about $80. His father was in court and agreed with Judge Sheely that military service is the best thing for his son. The parole order has been dismissed so that he is now free to enlist.

Charles Hartlaub, 23, Hanover R. 1, Adams county, and John M. Arendt, Jr., 19, Hanover R. 1, York county, were sentenced to White Hill school for boys on charges of burglary to which they had pleaded guilty. They admitted robbing the service station of William Eckenrode in Union township of cigarettes, ration stamps and cash after breaking into it on a night on which they had previously burglarized a Pennville service station in York county.

Mrs. Marie Bowers-Arner, Littlestown, who had pleaded guilty to receiving some of the stolen cigarettes and cash, was placed on probation for two years on condition of good behavior. She was allowed three months in which to pay the costs of her case.

Driver Gets 30 Days

Thomas Kimmel, Dover R. 3, was sent to jail for 30 days on a drunken driving charge on which he had pleaded guilty. The sentence is to date from the time of his arrest, July 1, by Pfc. George Ackerson of the state police. Kimmel told the court he had left a harvest field that afternoon to drive to York where he had some drinks and agreed to haul a soldier to Chambersburg as a favor. On the way home he was nabbed in Franklin township.

After a court hearing Mervil Coffman, Hamiltonban township, was found not guilty on a charge of larceny of several chickens from L. D. Kaufman, Franklin county. The court ordered the prosecutor to pay the costs.

A pending larceny case against Richard Swain, Jr., New Oxford, was dismissed in view of his impending induction into the armed forces. If he is not inducted he will be returned to court. He was directed to pay the costs before entering service.

Court adjourned until next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock when a session will be held in the offices of Judge Sheely. The next open court is set for August 5.

Mrs. Natalie Keleman, Harrisburg, who was to have appeared before the court on burglary and larceny charges in thefts at Dale's tire shop and at an East Berlin service station, was returned to jail to be turned over to Berks county authorities where she is wanted on similar charges. Later she will return to Adams county for disposition of the local charges. She has been a prisoner in the county jail here for more than two weeks.

Elect New Member Of Fire Company

Gordon Meyer was elected a new member of the Gettysburg Fire company Wednesday evening at its July meeting held at the Firemen's Retreat in South Mountains.

S. Richard Eisenhart presented an incomplete report on the proceeds from the recent firemen's drive for funds and bazaar in the absence of the chairman of the bazaar committee, Donald C.

TOMATOES AND ROASTIN' EARS AT MART TODAY

Marketmen appealed to customers to bring paper bags or other containers to use in carrying home their purchases from market in the future. The shortage of paper has made it impossible for many of the marketmen to replenish their supplies of paper bags, it was explained.

Tomatoes were on sale at the Farmers' Market house in fair supply this morning at 20 and 25 cents a pint box and 40 cents a quart while roasting ears disappeared before the first wave of buyers at 50 cents per dozen ears.

Apples, chiefly transparent and Early Ripe, were on sale at 10 cents a quart, 15 and 20 cents a quarter peck and from 25 to 40 cents a half peck. Pears were on sale for the first time this season with an early harvest variety selling at 10 cents a quart box.

Greensboro peaches brought 15, 20 and 25 cents a box. Red plums brought 20 cents a quart box. Dwindling supplies of sour cherries sold at 20 cents a quart.

Peppers On Sale

Black raspberries were 35 cents a quart while the red variety brought 40 cents. Dew berries sold at 30 cents a quart and a few Boyson berries could be had at 40 cents. Gooseberries were 15 cents a box.

Quantities of vegetables were to be had at these prices: Peppers, two for five cents; red beets five cents a bunch; onions, 10 cents a quart box; string beans, 15 cents a quart and 25 cents a quarter peck; new potatoes, 15 cents a quart, 25 cents a quarter peck; various sizes of squash at 10 cents each, two for 15 cents, five cents each and two for five cents. Canning size cucumbers were $1 per hundred while larger sizes ranged from two for five cents to five cents each.

There was a wide spread in egg prices today with various stands offering them at from 36 to 42 cents per dozen with 40 and 42 cents being asked at a greater number of stalls. Prices of dressed chickens continued without change at 60 cents for fryers and 50 and 52 cents for heavier and older fowl.

Fishing Permits On Increase Here

The poor man's sport, fishing, is increasing its popularity in Adams county according to the records of county treasurer John W. Brehm.

Up to June 30 of 1943, the county treasurer's records show, 782 persons had obtained fishing licenses in Adams county. This year 871 licenses have been issued up to June 30. The number of licenses includes a number of permits given free to soldiers living in the state.

Japs Execute Yank Airmen

New York, July 15 (AP)—A Japanese broadcast directed to American forces in the southwest Pacific and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission today said several American airmen captured in the first Superfortress raid on northern Kyushu last month had been executed.

The broadcast warned that "any Allied airman who falls or bails out over Japan will be executed."

"This is the order of the day," it added.

The American airmen met with "the same fate which was meted out to raiders of Tokyo some two years ago," continued the broadcast.

FCC monitors said the announcement was contained in a Japanese spokesman's "special talk" from the Singapore transmitter. Reception was poor and only a few excerpts in English were intelligible, the monitors said.

Miss Fern Heller, a private first class when this picture was made, entered service May 17, 1943. Clyde enlisted February 1, 1943.

LOCAL SEAMAN PREPARES FOR INVASION DUTY

S. L. C. William H. Small, 44 West High street, and a former employee of The Gettysburg Times is nearing completion of his course which is preparing him for service with the amphibious forces aboard an LST, Landing Ship Tank, one of the largest of the Navy's invasion fleet.

Seaman Small has been assigned to the crew of an LST at the Amphibious Training Base, Camp Bradford, Va., where he is going through the strenuous training required of bluejackets who man the beach-hitting tank carriers.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes.

Seek 80,000 Ships

Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Camp Bradford, where Seaman Small is stationed, is one of a group of bases operated by the Amphibious Training Command of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet along the eastern seaboard. The Bradford base is readying thousands of Navy men to operate the ships of the amphibious fleet, fast-growing toward its year-end goal of 80,000 new landing craft.

Seaman Small is a son of Walter Small, South Washington street, and his wife, resides with her parents on West High street.

GERMANY IS ASKING PEACE

(By The Associated Press) An article by German propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels declaring that Germany and her enemies both "want peace and calm" has been interpreted by the U. S. office of war information as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

The article appeared in this week's issue of the German magazine Das Reich. As broadcast in summary by the Berlin radio in the English language for consumption in the United States and Britain, the article appeared to be another form of Nazi propaganda against Bolshevism and a new attempt to drive a wedge between the British-American Allies and the Soviet Union.

In this account, recorded by the Associated Press, Goebbels was quoted directly as saying, "all want peace and calm except bolshevism, which wants continued unrest and chaos."

Meanwhile an Associated Press dispatch from Madrid said Das Schwarze Korps, organ of the Nazi SS, declared recently that "there is no use kidding ourselves. This phase of the war now beginning has grimmer meaning than all the phases that have gone before."

This article was headlined "It's Life or Death" and contained such statements "there is no more mercy left in the world."

Miss Mary C. McMillon, 35 York street, is included on the dean's list for the last semester at Pennsylvania State college with a grade of 2.8. To achieve the dean's list a student must make a grade of 2.5 or better. The highest obtainable rating under the system used is 3.0.

Duck Soup—?

By EDWARD D. BALL On the Ay River, Normandy, July 14 (Delayed) (AP)—Through field glasses little damage was evident today in the town of Lessay toward which American troops are advancing through a Normandy jungle of undergrowth and hedges.

Pvt. Dale E. Cluck, of Gettysburg, Pa., declared "the battle of Gettysburg must have been duck soup compared to this kind of fighting."

As they advanced the Americans threw loudspeakers into action, calling upon the enemy in German, Polish and Russian to surrender.

65 PLUMBING AND HEATING ITEMS OPENED

Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices have been set for 65 used and reconditioned plumbing and heating items, and maximum prices provided for most others by applying a specified percentage discount from the manufacturer's list price for the article when new, the OPA announced today.

The new regulation, effective August 9, covers sales at both retail and wholesale, with prices based generally on March 1942 levels.

Items covered include used plumbing and heating material, reconditioned heating equipment, automatic hot water heaters, and seconds and culs of new items. They are made available to dealers by building wreckers who salvage the plumbing and heating materials. Now that old buildings are being improved sufficiently to make them last out the war, wrecking of buildings is virtually at a standstill.

Demand Is Increasing

The curtailment of production of new plumbing and heating equipment, and the limitation of sales to those holding essential priority ratings have caused a greatly increased demand for the used and reconditioned items.

The new specific prices will end confusion in the industry as to applicable ceiling prices, and will protect consumers from paying unreasonable prices. At the same time, the normal relationship between the prices of new and used and reconditioned plumbing and heating equipment will be re-established.

Items covered by the dollars-and-cents prices include bathtubs, lavatories, sinks, faucets, shower bath fixtures, cast-iron radiators, etc. For items not listed in the price schedule—such as reconditioned boilers and hot water heaters, and seconds and culs of new equipment—specific percentages are deducted from manufacturers' list prices for the articles when new.

Posters showing dollars and cents ceiling prices for 65 items of used plumbing and heating equipment covered by this regulation, are available at the OPA district office. There are four posters, two showing retail prices, two showing wholesale prices.

T. R. IS BURIED IN NORMANDY

U. S. Fourth Division Cemetery in France, July 15 (AP)—Machine guns rattled in the distance and anti-aircraft fire burst in faraway clouds as military funeral services were held in the Normandy twilight last night for Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

The general's son, Quentin, watched as his father's body was lowered in the French soil on a hearse he had fought in two wars against German aggression. Quentin is a captain in the "Fighting First" division, which was his father's favorite.

Beside the grave were six generals, including Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, in command of all U. S. troops in France.

Others included high-ranking officers of the first division and the fourth division, of which Roosevelt was assistant commander when he died of a heart attack Wednesday.

Taps Are Sounded

The divisional band headed the procession down the long aisle between rows of white painted wooden crosses. Behind it came the firing squad and color guard bearing the American and Fourth division flags.

Col. Peter C. Schroeder, First Army chaplain and former pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Flushing, N. Y., and Lt. Col. James A. Bryant, Crystal Springs, Miss., Fourth division chaplain, preceded the flag-covered coffin, carried on an armored truck.

Eight riflemen fired three volleys over the grave. After taps were sounded, scores of patriotic French resistance leaders and their families tossed fresh white and red roses into the open grave.

Russians Pressing Forward Toward German Soil; Yanks Nearing Seaport Of Livorno

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 15 (AP)—American troops have driven to within three and a half miles of the seaport of Livorno in the wake of suddenly melting German resistance, and have recaptured the town of Chianni, 13 miles inland from the west coast, it was announced today.

The most significant gains in the past two weeks of heavy fighting, putting the Fifth Army within artillery range of Livorno and nine miles from the Arno river, were made yesterday, with the battered Germans falling back at most points.

The French, who celebrated Bastille Day by seizing Poggibonsi in a combined flanking move and direct assault, pursued the enemy northward.

Occupy All Important Heights

In a broad forward sweep, one American column passed Ghizzano, 23 miles due east of Livorno, and occupied all the important heights covering the approach to the Arno river, 10 miles away.

Another American force captured Villamagna, 15 miles west of Poggibonsi, while still other U. S. units swept through Chianni and Belvedere, enemy strongholds guarding the Era valley avenue toward the Arno valley.

Belvedere is five and a half miles northeast of Chianni.

Americans also captured Peccioli, another strong-point in the Era river valley, only nine airline miles from the river's junction with the Arno.

In the coastal sector Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces moved up three to five miles.

In air apparent effort to protect the withdrawal of other divisions which suffered heavy losses in recent fighting, the Nazi command sent the third Panzer grenadier division back into the line on the Fifth Army front after a week's rest.

Take 32,000 Prisoners

Prisoners taken by the Fifth Army since it started its offensive May 11 now exceed 32,000, while the Eighth Army reported prisoners were pouring into its cages at an average rate of 160 daily since the offensive began. This would add a total of more than 10,000.

The Eighth Army occupied the village of Santa Lucia in the upper Tiber valley and advanced to within two miles of Citta di Castello, a road junction. Heavy fighting continued for hills dominating that junction.

In the Arezzo area the British exerted steady pressure on the enemy. Farther east the Eighth Army straightened its lines by advancing through Gualdo Tadino to Fossato di Vico, 23 miles northeast of Perugia.

Italian troops occupied Cingoli, 22 miles southeast of the east coast port of Ancona and the village of Strada, two miles north of Cingoli, to assist in straightening the line.

Pvt. Harry S. Oyler, 21-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Oyler, 223 Baltimore street, was among a group of Allied soldiers who were recently received in audience by the Pope, according to a letter received by his parents today.

The Americans, on a brief leave in Rome, went to St. Peter's Cathedral where they were received by the Pope. After a brief address the Pope blessed the group and presented each soldier with a black and silver Rosary. Young Oyler sent his Rosary to his parents.

The local youth is serving his 19th month in service.

Yanks Advance Four Miles In Normandy Within 24 Hours

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 15 (AP)—The American First Army besieged three key Nazi fortified road junction towns in the Cherbourg peninsula today—Periers, Lessay and St. Lo—after a four-mile advance in 24 hours.

The four-mile southward drive from the marshes of Plessis towards Periers was the largest one-day advance rolled up on the peninsula since the fall of Cherbourg. Coupled with other advances, it left the Americans in these positions:

Lessay—One mile north of the town after the capture of the hamlet of Beauvais, converging on the town from the east where they were two miles away at Pissot, while on the west they were about a mile and a half away after advancing from St. Germain-Sur-Ay.

Periers—A late telephone call from the 21st Army group this morning said the Americans had driven to within two miles of the town from the north. The exact position was not given. Previous information a few hours before, however, recorded the capture of Les Granges and Gonfreville, four miles north of the town.

St. Lo—Late information this morning said the Americans had pushed west from La Barre de Semilly, breaking the deadlock there, but did not give the exact distance of the advance. This one pincer was closing on the town while a half-mile advance northwest of St. Lo, down the Vire river through Creteville, placed another American column less than three miles from St. Lo in this direction.

Allied air forces recorded destruction of 27 German planes, against a loss of 14, with bad weather holding individual plane flights to about 1,000.

As they retreat, the Germans are blowing up bridges and laying mine fields and ambushes.

R. C. NUTRITION COURSE TO OPEN

Mrs. Anna DePlanter Bowes, chief of the nutrition division of the Maternal and Child Health bureau of the State Department of Health, will be the lecturer for the first session of the Red Cross Nutrition course to be held next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Red Cross rooms in the Topper building on Baltimore street.

Mrs. Bowes, who is widely known as a teacher, lecturer and author in the field of nutrition, will speak on the topic, "Are Americans Well Fed?"

The lecture is open to the public and all women interested are urged to attend regardless of whether they wish to continue with the later sessions of the course.

The Nutrition course is being offered in response to a request from national Red Cross headquarters for the purpose of developing a trained canteen corps as a part of the Red Cross Volunteer Special Services in this county. The 10-lesson nutrition course is being offered as a foundation for the canteen course.

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, July 15 (AP)—The German Army, facing the prospect of imminent fighting on its own soil in East Prussia, was preparing for a street-by-street and building-by-building defense against the Russians in at least three of five key cities on the long eastern battle line, front dispatches said today and three German news agencies announced the Russians opened the "long expected" attack between Tarnopol and Luck in southern Poland yesterday.

The Germans were throwing up street barricades and defenses in buildings and houses in Grodno, Bialystok and Brest Litovsk, and bracing against the steadily advancing Russians in the Baltic cities of Kaunas and Daugavpils (Dvinsk) the dispatches said.

Nazi Lines Blasted Wide Open

The Nazi line was reported wide open in numerous sectors from the Velikaya river, last barrier to the middle Baltics, to south of the Pripyat Marsh region around captured Pinsk. The Germans appeared unable to hold anywhere as five Russian armies spilled westward with growing momentum.

(The British radio, in a French language broadcast to Europe recorded by U. S. government monitors, declared the Germans had started to dismount installations in the fortress port of Konigsberg, seacoast capital of East Prussia.)

Meanwhile, Gen. Ivan Bagramian drove a deep tank wedge into Lithuania, threatening to cut off the Latvian seaport of Riga and Estonia from the south.

Russian armored columns slashing through the open country between Wilno and Daugavpils reached places 38 miles east of Panevezys in north central Lithuania and 81 miles from Siauliai.

The Red Army units advanced 23 miles along a route that may lead eventually to the Baltic Sea and the port of Memel.

Head For Rail Hub

Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's third White Russian Army, advancing toward Kaunas, widened its front before the city and made for the railway 18 miles away—the line that connects Germany and East Prussia with Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

This was one of the most dangerous thrusts for the Germans of the whole current campaign, for while the railway is not the only line left out of Latvia and Estonia, it is a main line over which virtually all military traffic moves.

The Moscow communique said the Red Army, advancing westward along a line less than 20 miles from East Prussia, had broken the German Nieman river line southeast of Grodno, and was closing within seven miles of that strong point. Capture of Verstelski (Wiercie-liszki), seven miles east, and Zhdanoviya, eight miles southeast was announced.

Russian troops, in a fierce engagement, crossed to the west bank of the Niemen, the communique added.

SCOUTS HELP WITH HARVEST OF MANY CROPS

Ninety per cent of the members of the Boy Scout troops of Gettysburg and all of the scouts in the Biglerville, Arendtsville and Cashtown areas are working in the cherry orchards or doing other farm work, Dr. Frederick Tilberg, president of the Black Walnut scouting district, announced today.

The total number of scouts at work is 150 with the ages of the members ranging from 12 to 15 years of age. Twenty-seven scouts from York are also engaged in work in the Adams county orchards with that number being included among the high school fruit picking group stationed in the Biglerville high school building.

Cashtown's troop, despite the fact that all members are working on the farms and orchards, led the district in securing of war bond pledges during the Fifth War Loan drive. Doctor Tilberg reported. The troop secured pledges for 114 bonds, with a face value of $4,875. During the Fourth War Loan drive the Cashtown troop also led the district, securing 145 pledges with a value of $7,425.

Among the scout troops participating in the war loan drive was the Girl Scout troop of St. James Lutheran church. The Fifth War Loan drive marked the first time the Girl Scouts have participated in the "Scouts as Cleaners campaign" during war bond drives, it was stated.

The commanding officer, Capt. C. Arthur Brame, directed Friday evening's schedule and announced that upper county Minutemen will assemble next Friday at the armory at 8 o'clock while members of the unit from lower parts of the county will gather at Littlestown for the drill which begins at 8:30 o'clock.

RAIN SMASHES HEAT WAVE AND DROUGHT HERE

The hottest day of the year—Wednesday—ended by breaking the drought that had held this section of the county in its grip for 22 days previously.

The mercury at the Arendtsville laboratories reached 97 degrees Wednesday and the thermometer of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, registered 96, the hottest day this summer.

Nearly one-half inch of rain fell in a general shower that began about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and continued intermittently throughout the night.

At Gettysburg 47 of an inch of rain fell and at Arendtsville .49 of an inch was recorded. The shower was the first measurable rain to fall in Gettysburg since June 20 and the first measurable rainfall at Arendtsville since June 29 when .18 of an inch was recorded. It was the first "good rain" recorded at Arendtsville since May 7 when over an inch was recorded.

Need More Rain
While clouds hanging densely in the county's sky gave promise today that the county may have more rainfall, weather observers held that the precipitation last night, while helpful, still was not sufficient to soak into the ground and overcome the lack of rain that has existed since this spring. The rainfall, they pointed out, was good for grass and victory gardens, which were burned considerably by the drought, but did not get deep enough to do much good for the larger crops and orchards.

While no estimate can be made as to the damage done to the crops much loss has been experienced by cherry growers due to the smaller size of the cherries brought about by the drought, at least one observer held today. Apples and peaches are also smaller, it was said, and unless a tremendous amount of rain falls within the next few weeks the apples and peach crops will be much smaller than the ordinary crop. The cumulative drought on top of the present summer's drought will curtail the use of both apples and peaches to a great extent, it was said. Trees, which have not recovered from last summer's drought, are being greatly damaged by the current dry weather, it was felt.

The thermometer fell to 71 degrees during the night and was standing at the 75 mark at noon today at the Arendtsville laboratories, but most countians who were remaining indoors felt it was hot as ever with the humidity a nice 75, just enough to make "it isn't the heat—it's the humidity" as true a statement as was ever uttered.

COLEMAN HEADS SCOUT GROUP

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National park, was elected chairman of the joint Rotary and Lions club Boy Scout committee at an organization meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

The committee has charge of Boy Scout Troop 77 which is jointly sponsored by the two local service clubs. Elmer Schriver, agricultural education instructor at the local high school and a member of the Lions, was named as vice chairman and Fred G. Troxell, also a Lion and a teacher at the high school, elected secretary-auditor for the committee.

Scoutmaster Jack Cessna outlined the program for the scout committee to follow during the coming year, detailing the various duties that are to be performed by the members of the committee. Retiring Chairman Vernon B. Corle was given a vote of thanks for his services during last year.

Persons expecting to take the course are asked to register either with the Red Cross office or with Mrs. Saby so that text books may be secured in advance of the opening of the course.

Mrs. Saby said that the first meeting will be held in the afternoon but that later sessions will be arranged to suit the convenience of the class members as far as is possible.

While no appointment has been made as yet to the position, it is the intention of the OPA to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Hamm. Ottomano has been appointed as an alternate to the position held by Mrs. Hamm.

MORE BIRTHS HERE IN 1944

Births in Gettysburg and the four township district surrounding it were up from 222 for the first six months of last year to 235 for the first six months of this year. Ralph Gieselman, registrar of vital statistics for the area, said Tuesday.

W. M. RAILROAD EXONERATED IN MYERS' DEATH

That Charles Raymond Myers, 61, of Iron Springs, was trespassing on railroad property and that the accident which caused his death at 11:55 a. m. July 1, was unavoidable as far as the railroad company and train crew were concerned was decided Saturday afternoon by a coroner's jury following an inquest, held by Coroner S. D. Shull in Chambersburg.

Myers came to his death, the verdict said, as the result of injuries he received when struck by a locomotive of the Western Maryland Railway Company of which E. F. Selby of Hagerstown was engineer. "We believe, first," said the jury, "that Charles Myers was trespassing on the premises of the Western Maryland Railway Co. at the time of his death, and secondly, we believe that it was an unavoidable accident and do therefore exonerate the Western Maryland Railway Co. and train crew."

Saw Object On Track
G. W. Warrenfeltz, Funkstown, Md., fireman on the locomotive, testified his attention was called by Paul Arnold, Baltimore, an employee of the W. M. R. Co., who was riding in the engine, to an object on the track as the locomotive rounded a sharp curve.

Lt. E. J. Caspman, Hagerstown, of the W. M. R. Co. police, had previously testified that the accident had happened between Monterey and Charman, about one-fourth of a mile west of Charman crossing, and at a point where a 40-foot embankment, covered with heavy underbrush would have obscured the vision of the train crew for a distance of 330 feet.

The 30-car loaded freight train was descending a steep grade. Chapman said that the train dragged portions of Myers' body for 429 feet and that his body was still caught on the locomotive when it stopped.

The police officer fixed the scene of the accident as between Myers' home, which was four or five miles away, and the place of his employment, one and a half to two miles away.

Warrenfeltz said Selby blew the whistle as soon as the man was seen on the tracks. The train, estimated by crewmen to have been traveling 20 or 21 miles an hour, was within 75 feet of Myers when it was recognized as a man. Selby immediately applied the emergency brakes and "dropped sand" to provide traction for stopping, he said.

Warrenfeltz testified that Myers was sitting on the inside of the right rail, with his feet on the outside of the track. His head and chest, the fireman said, appeared to be lying on his legs.

RATIONED CARS ARE ANNOUNCED

All 1942 hard-top cars with a factory list price of between $1,500 and $2,500 and also 1943 convertible top cars with a list price up to $2,500 will be rationed on the same basis as the popular lower-priced, hard-top automobiles beginning July 10, the OPA announced last Friday.

Eligibility requirements for these cars have been more liberal than for the lower-priced hard-top cars. Formerly any person could get a certificate for a hard-top car with a list price up to $2,500 if the car was needed for a gainful occupation or for work contributing to the war effort or public welfare. This was because these cars were in less demand in the earlier period of rationing than the lower-priced models.

The liberal requirements have been revoked to conserve the remaining small supply of cars for persons whose needs are considered more essential.

The requirements for cars selling for $2,500 or more and 1941 cars, driven less than 1,000 miles remain unchanged.

Applicants for all rationed passenger cars with a list price under $2,500 must show they need an automobile principally for one or more of the following reasons: essential to work effort or to the public welfare, such as doctors, ministers and war workers.

THOMAS MAKES APPEAL FOR BOND BUYING

Adams county is $311,300 short of its "E" bond quota of $650,000, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county War Finance committee, announced today.

Sales of this issue of bonds through July 10th totaled $338,700. Mr. Thomas said: "It is most important that we reach our quota in the sale of E bonds. Our unsold balance is not too great. If each Adams countian purchased about $8 worth of bonds on an average before July 31st we will reach our goal."

"I don't feel that it is asking too much of our good people to support our government to this extent, especially in view of our successes in Normandy and Italy. Our fighting forces need every bit of financial help we can give them and I am hopeful that Adams county will fulfill its obligation to this extent."

Total sales of all types of bonds through July 10th were announced today at $3,473,000. This represents an over-subscription of $675,000, the largest "over-the-top" figures achieved in any previous bond drive in this county.

From the Women's Division of the War Finance committee came this statement this morning: "On behalf of the Women's Division of the War Finance committee we want to express our appreciation to the various organizations and women who sponsored and worked at the bond booth in the First National bank building and also to the many women who have worked so hard at selling individual bonds. All have done a grand job."

We especially urge, however, that an extra effort be made to sell more individual bonds so that our quota for these bonds may be reached by July 31st. We ask that all such sales be reported to the headquarters booth at the Hotel Gettysburg. This booth will be open each day from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. through July 31st."

The statement was signed by Mrs. Henry T. Bream and Mrs. Frank Kramer.

SAYS CAMP IS TO BE CLOSED

Camp George M. Sharpe, the former CCC camp site on the battlefield which was occupied by the U. S. Army last November 9 and has been in use continuously since that time, will be converted to a work camp for farm laborers about August 1, Robert Edwards, camp director for the state Emergency Farm Labor committee stated Friday.

Mr. Edwards said that plans call for the closing of the labor camps now being operated in the Arendtsville high school and Biglerville grade school buildings at the end of this month with the close of the cherry season.

Other workers will be brought here for the peach and tomato and possibly the apple seasons, he said, and will be quartered at the present site of Camp Sharpe. Present plans call for continuation of the work camp at Cross Keys inn, he said.

Maj. John T. Jarecki, commander at Camp Sharpe, said he cannot confirm or deny the statement that the army camp will be discontinued by the end of this month.

Weaver, assistant director, who said the Pennsylvania-required course in American and Pennsylvania history had attracted the largest enrollment of any single course. More than 85 enrolled for this course.

This year, for the second time during the war period, three major programs are in session simultaneously at Penn State. The regular summer semester devoted to undergraduate work has already started, and the special program for military and naval trainees also is underway.

MAN DROWNS AT PINE GROVE

Vincent Anello, 26, a Leutenkenny Ordnance Depot employee, drowned Sunday afternoon at Fuller's Lake, Pine Grove Furnace, Dr. E. A. Haegle, Cumberland county coroner, reported last night.

Anello, swimming along about 150 yards from the diving board in the deep abandoned iron ore hole, was seen diving and swimming for about 15 minutes by other bathers.

He shouted for help and sank in about 20 feet of water, it was reported by Miss Josephine Paxton, of Boiling Springs, who was the last person to see him before he went below the surface of the water.

Nearby swimmers, who began diving for the body immediately, included many servicemen spending the day there. Two Army men, Capt. R. M. Bailey, of the Carlisle Medical Barracks, and Sgt. George A. Houghton, of Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, rescued the body after diving about 25 minutes.

Dr. W. H. Burgin, of New Cumberland, pronounced him dead after Seaman First Class Lawrence Soltenberger, who gave a San Francisco Fleet Post Office address, and several others attempted to revive him with artificial respiration.

Anello, who resided at 204 Fifth avenue, Chambersburg, was a native of Baltimore. There are no known survivors, the coroner reported.

NEED 30 MORE BLOOD DONORS FOR JULY CALL

The Adams County Blood Donor service issued an urgent call today for 30 new volunteers to give their first pint of blood here on Monday afternoon, July 31, the next Red Cross Blood Donor day in Gettysburg.

Various causes have reduced the Blood Donor file by several hundred persons. Some have moved away, others are not available for additional donations now for many reasons but the largest group includes those who ignored the last two appointments given them.

When two consecutive appointments are given a donor and he or she does not report at the donor station and does not notify the Blood Donor Service chairman, R. Ford H. Lippy, that the wish to be kept on the list, the name is dropped.

To meet the shortage in the donor file, new volunteers must come forward to offer their blood to help meet the tremendous demand from Allied battlefronts for the life-giving plasma needed in ever larger quantities.

Seek 160 Pints
The dropping of the names of persons who fail to respond is intended to increase the percentage of volunteers who appear to give blood. Last month 240 county men and women held appointments and 112 gave blood.

In an effort to make sure that the quota of 160 pints of blood will be met July 31, the county Donor Service unit expects to give appointments to about 270 persons. To be able to get enough donors in the county each month—allowing the required interval of at least two months between donations—a new donors must offer their help.

Red Cross reports from many parts of the nation show many persons fail to keep their appointments through carelessness or neglect, but at the same time many members of servicemen's families in all parts of the land are eagerly offering their blood to make sure their sons or brothers or husbands in the service will get plasma if they need it—and to repay others for giving blood that saved the lives of their wounded kin.

Returned servicemen, some of whom have benefited themselves from plasma donated by folk back home, frequently appear at city donor stations to give blood.

Failure to maintain a steady supply of blood for plasma would result in gravest complications on the battlefronts, Red Cross workers point out.

Countians may enroll as donors by calling Lippy's score, telephone 604, or the Red Cross office in the Topper building on Baltimore street.

ROBERT HILTY NOW IN ACTION

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hilty, residing in Gettysburg, Pfc. Robert Hilty reveals that he had been in France and escaped unscathed in the recent invasion. The letter was written June 24.

He says, in part, "I am this far and I know some one was praying for us. I made it through the invasion all right but it was plenty hot. Just think, you have a son with a lot of experience at fighting and also a Presidential citation. We beat the record they made in the last World War."

In a previous letter written from France June 21, Pfc. Hilty stated: "I am writing this letter on the front lines and if there are any mistakes I hope you will overlook them because at times things are pretty hot. I am now in plenty of action. I guess Dad has nothing on me."

Order 3,000 Sets Of G-I Ballots

Three thousand military ballot sets were ordered from the state Wednesday by the Adams county commissioners at their regular meeting at the court house.

Approximately 2,500 of the sets will be sent to soldiers and sailors from the county eligible for the military ballot while the remainder will be sent to the 42 election districts in the county so that any member of the armed forces home on leave who wish can vote at his regular election house in November.

Youth Who Saved Athletes Wounded

The name of Corporal Maynard O. Oistot, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oistot, Shepherdstown, is included in a recent War Department list of casualties. He was wounded in action in the Mediterranean theater, probably in Italy.

Corporal Oistot, a veteran of the African, Sicilian and Italian invasions, was credited with saving the lives of a number of Lemoyne high school athletes who were riding to Adams county for a basketball game in March, 1939, when he discovered their bus was afire, drove his car past the bus and stopped it in time for the passengers to escape the flames. The bus was destroyed.

NAZI SCREAMS FOR PEACE IS AGE OLD STUFF SAYS OBSERVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

If further proof were needed of the desperate straits of Hitlerdom it would be found in Nazi Minister Joseph Goebbels' latest publication which the United States office of war information describes as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

Goebbels' plea is contained in an article distributed by the official German DNB agency and recorded in this country by the federal communications commission. It isn't by any means the first effort of its kind made recently by the Hitlerites, since there have been at least half a dozen feelers put out by Berlin. However, it represents a monumental display of brass, coming as it does on top of the Nazi threat to "turn Europe into a maelstrom of destruction" in an attempt to make the Allies come to terms.

Unscrupulous Murderer

This is the same demagogue Goebbels whom I heard whipping a crowd of fifty thousand in Berlin up to war fever back at the time of Munich. To give the devil his due, he is a past master at tub-thumping and is clever in much of his propaganda. He has the knack of giving the tinge of truth to his lies. However, he's one of the most unscrupulous of Hitler's murderous gang and has been one of the fuhrer's mainstays in making war against the Allies whom he now begs to be lenient. He's a dangerous man.

Those of us who were at Versailles to see the last peace made with Germany, and who watched the subsequent manipulations of Prussian militarism and Hitlerism at close range, have not the slightest doubt that the Germans will make war on us again if we don't smash them now. Indeed, Allied intelligence agents have found ample proof that the Prussian high command, which long has recognized that the Reich couldn't win the war, has been planning for a comeback twenty-five years hence.

Must Erase 2 Toms

The Allied problem of how to deal with Prussian aggression isn't new to this war or to the last. This militarism has been the plague of Europe for many decades. There can be no peace until Prussianism and its running mate, Nazism, are literally wiped out.

The argument made by many of those who advocate lenience towards the Nazis is that the demand of unconditional surrender will only make Germany fight harder and longer. I don't believe that represents the consensus of professional observers. The general view is that, lenience or no lenience, the Hitlerites will quit when they have their bellies full and not before.

Anyway, the Allied peoples as a whole seem firmly determined to see the thing through to a finish. The British house of lords reflected the general attitude very well a couple of days ago when Lord Vansittart, exponent of using the mailed fist on Germany, denounced the Nazi regime. He secured a government pledge that "the whole devilish (Gestapo) organization will be rooted out," and that the German people and Army will have to share the onus of the Nazi crimes.

While Goebbels' appeal for peace will be wasted on the desert air so far as the Allies are concerned, it's worth noting that it does serve to prepare the German public for the surrender which must come sooner or later. Probably the propaganda minister had this in mind.

New Raid Warning System In Effect

Harrisburg, July 15 (AP)—A new air raid warning system goes into effect throughout Pennsylvania Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The system may become the commonwealth's permanent plan of dealing with all civilian disasters, even in peace time, and is an outgrowth of a change of procedure recently devised by the third service command at Baltimore, the State Defense Council said.

Under the revised program the responsibility for future warnings on practice blackouts, air raid drills or enemy action rests entirely with the Pennsylvania Civilian Defense Council.

The third service command will notify the state control center at Harrisburg should there be any cause for a state-wide alarm. The state council will then transmit the warning to every county in Pennsylvania.

Warnings will be flashed from the state control center to Philadelphia for the southeastern part of the state, to Allentown for the eastern part and to Pittsburgh for the western part. All central counties will be warned directly from Harrisburg.

Chungking July 15 (AP)—The Japanese again encircled the pivotal Hunan city of Hengyang July 10, three days after the Chinese had broken the siege, and it still is surrounded, a Chinese Army spokesman said today.

PARIS ROAD HUBS BOMBED

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, July 15 (AP)—British Lancaster bombers hammered at railroads in the suburbs of Paris early today. This was a climax to widespread night air assaults in which other heavies hit flying bomb installations in France and Mosquitoes ripped into German positions in Normandy and objective in Germany.

The important Villeneuve-St. Gorges railroad yards on the southeastern outskirts of Paris gave the Lancasters their target for this morning. Reconnaissance had disclosed large concentrations of rolling stock there, loaded with supplies for the battle area.

Seven bombers were missing from the attack on Villeneuve-St. Gorges. Both Lancasters and Halifaxes participated in the night blow on the robot lairs, which were attacked twice in daylight yesterday by RAF heavy bombers. Flying bombs fell in the southern counties during the night, causing damage and casualties.

Blast Barracks

One of the night Mosquito formations sped to 60 miles south of Tours, and made a low-level attack on German barracks in a forest. They dumped more than 32 tons of bombs on the buildings. Other Mosquitoes continued their attacks on German communications throughout the night.

The U. S. Army air force announced yesterday's Liberator attack on targets in the Amiens area resulted in no loss of bombers or escorting fighters. Only 1,000 offensive sorties were flown from Britain and Normandy yesterday, but the Allied airmen downed 25 German planes during daylight for the loss of seven. Two other enemy planes were destroyed last night.

American fighter-bombers destroyed 167 railroad cars and 12 locomotives and cut rail lines at 13 points in yesterday's attacks on enemy transportation south of the battlefield.

Many Firms Lose Priority Standing

ROOSEVELT IS SAID TO FAVOR WALLACE AGAIN

By JACK BELL

Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Vice presidential candidacies popped up like lightning rods over Chicago's loop today as anxious Democrats awaited word from National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan on the White House attitude towards their ticket's second place entry.

Hannegan reportedly had in his possession a letter from President Roosevelt to the party convention, which will begin the business next week of nominating him for a fourth term, expressing preference for the renomination of vice president Henry Agard Wallace, but leaving the final decision to the delegates.

With many candidates contending that Wallace cannot win on his own steam, the list of those who hastened to make themselves available for any lightning that might strike lengthened hourly.

Among the latest whose names came to the front were four Senators: Alfred (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, Claude Pepper of Florida, Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Elbert Thomas of Utah.

Broughton, Byrd

These, along with Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, Supreme Court Justice, William O. Douglas, War Mobilization Director James S. Byrnes, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois and Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, were listed in pre-convention lobby gossip as in a receptive frame of mind.

In contrast, lithographed brochures were in circulation urging the availability of Governor Joseph M. Broughton of North Carolina.

Like Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who ran for first and got second place on the Republican ticket, Broughton was about the only openly avowed candidate for vice president. Even Wallace has not said publicly that his hat is in the ring.

In another quarter, a quiet move was reported under way to bring the name of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, consistent critic of the administration, before the convention as a vice-presidential candidate.

Price Panel Ends Ceiling Price Case

Junior Francis Erb, York Springs, was x-rayed at the Warner hospital Friday evening for an injury to his right ankle caused when a tractor ran over his foot while he was employed by H. T. Doherty, York Springs R. 2.

Among those who have been admitted to the hospital are Dolores Bergner, East Stevens street; Jane Flickinger, Arendtsville; Nancy Lee, Gettysburg R. 3, and Howard Harman and Glenn Hartzell, of Cash-town, all of whom underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils; and Mrs. Richard Smith, York street.

Those discharged include Mrs. John Kaas, Rocky Ridge, Md.; Barbara Ann Fohl, Gettysburg; Daniel and Joyce Stoops, Waynesboro; David Kregel and Dallas Duncan, both of Emmitsburg; Elmer Warren, Gettysburg and Mrs. C. Chester Plank and infant daughter, Loraine Christine, York Springs.

X-ray For Tractor Injury To Ankle

Since no agreement could be reached by Elmer E. Leppo, York, and Mac McCarty, New Oxford, concerning a claimed ceiling price violation on the part of Mr. McCarty, the case was ordered closed by the York price panel at a meeting Friday night in York.

Mr. Leppo had charged Mr. McCarty with demanding $475 for a 1937 Chevrolet pick-up truck, the ceiling price of which was said to be $335. Denying the charges, Mr. McCarty claimed that Mr. Leppo had paid $310 for the truck. The case was ordered closed as the local OPA stated that no refunds can be made to the purchaser on this type of truck but must be paid to the Treasury department, Washington.

It was stated that the panel has no further authority in the case.

General And Five Others Are Killed

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 15 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Paul W. Newgarden, commander of the 10th Armored Division; two colonels, and at least two other persons were instantly killed near here last night when an Army plane crashed and exploded during a heavy storm.

2,430 IN COUNTY ARE ELIGIBLE FOR NEW GI BALLOTS

Of the 2,684 soldiers and sailors registered for the GI ballot in Adams county, 2,430 are eligible to vote in the forthcoming election, the Adams county Election board announced this morning after completing the count of the registrations turned in by the election boards of the 42 districts in the county, Friday evening and Saturday.

A total of 230 of the men and women registered to vote were found to be under 21 years of age and 11 of the cards were duplicates. Twenty-two of the cards did not have sufficient information on them to determine whether the soldier was eligible to vote. It is expected that a number of the 22 will be allowed to vote after the additional information is obtained by the county election board.

Only 12 of the men were registered for the GI ballot at the polls on Military Ballot Day last Friday with the 500 Civilian Defense canvassers who visited every home in the county to secure the registrations turning in 2,666 of the cards. The registration cards collected by the C-D workers were turned over to the local election boards prior to Military Ballot Day for processing by the election officials.

A few additional soldier voters may be added to the election registration list in the near future when requests for military ballots from men in service are checked against the lists available from the GI registration.

No challenges will be allowed on those eligible to vote until after the military ballots are returned. It was explained today. When the ballots are returned a special day will be set aside for their counting and at that time, before the ballots are opened, the names of the voters will be read and anyone wishing to challenge the right of any soldier to vote will have an opportunity to issue the challenge at that time.

When a vote is challenged an immediate hearing will be held by the county election board, and an immediate appeal can be made from that decision by the board to the county court.

The list of districts and number of soldiers, sailors and marines eligible to vote in the districts at the present time follows:

BULK OF CHERRY CROP TO BE OFF TREES IN 10 DAYS

The "army" of 1,500 persons picking cherries in Adams county is expected to complete its work by the end of July, with most of the work done by the end of next week. The dry weather is shortening the harvest period.

With many residents of the upper section of the county taking part in the harvest together with more than 200 workers recruited from throughout the state and with the assistance of nearly 260 Jamaicans, the county's crop apparently will be cleaned from the trees without loss. The total crop is expected to be in excess of 5,000,000 pounds.

The large crop, which is expected to bring the largest amount of money to the county of any crop so far, will possibly help the State to become fourth in production of cherries among all states that produce cherries in large quantities. It was revealed today.

According to a survey of conditions as they existed last month, the Federal-State crop reporting service of the State Department of Agriculture today said that the sour cherry crop in the state has been estimated at a record 7,700 tons, a record for Pennsylvania.

The previous record crop in Pennsylvania was in 1942 when production totaled 7,400 tons. With Adams and Erie counties being the heaviest sour cherry producing areas in the state, the crop here will have a large influence on whether or not the state will reach the expected peak of production. The picking will continue a little longer in Erie county than here, but the production from Adams county will probably be larger than from Erie, where some orchards are reporting light crops.

Michigan is the leading sour cherry state with an estimated production of 52,400 tons. New York is second with 20,000 tons and Wisconsin third with 12,000 tons.

Nearly Equal to Record Years
The pickers and the men and women engaged in canning the crop here in the county are earning more than $100,000 this month in wages paid for handling the cherry crop.

The growers are expected to have an income of more than $350,000 from the crop.

Previous large crops in Adams county occurred in 1937 and 1941 and it is believed that this year's crop will be comparable to the crops in those years, but slightly lower than 1941 when 6,000,000 pounds of cherries were harvested.

Services conducted at 2:30 o'clock at the J. W. Little and Son funeral home, Maple avenue, Littlestown, the Rev. Theodore W. Boltz pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, officiating. Interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Littlestown.

PETS, INSECTS ARE DAMAGING GARDENS HERE

Even more serious than the depredations by natural pests is the damage being done to local victory gardens by domestic animals and pets, Prof. Herbert G. Hamme, local victory garden chairman, said today.

A large number of gardeners have complained to him of the irreparable damage done their gardens by strays, dogs, pigeons and even cats. Professor Hamme said, and gardeners are requesting a closer supervision of the activities of the animals by their owners.

"Many gardeners are busy now putting out their late crops and they would like protection against avoidable damage to such plantings caused by prowling dogs and cats that should be kept from the gardens by the owners of the pets," he added.

Good Quality, Quantity
Infestation by beetles and other insect pests has been much lighter than usual but there has been greater destruction by rabbits and blackbirds this year, the chairman said, in giving a summary of the activities of the army of Gettysburg victory gardeners so far.

"Crops of excellent quality and large quantity have already been gathered and gardeners generally are well pleased with their efforts to date. While the gardens in many sections were hurt by the lack of rain during the last month, the rainfall over the night may mean for the gardens as much success during the remainder of the year as has been experienced in the first part of the gardening season. Through their gardens the local men and women are making an important contribution this year to war food production.

"All that the gardeners ask of their friends and neighbors is their cooperation in guarding against unnecessary and avoidable destruction of plants and crops. While it is realized that the pets must be given freedom to be out at times, the gardeners are asking the owners of the pets to see that the animals do not damage the garden crops."

PITCHING WINS FOR NATIONALS IN ALL-STAR GO

By JACK HAND
Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—The balloon pitch and the nothing ball got credit for stopping the American league's all-star victory march Tuesday as Billy Southworth's Nationals celebrated their fourth win in the 12-year history of the dream game.

While the boys from Ford Frick's circuit were rapping five assorted batters from Joe McCarthy's stockpile for 12 hits, effective pitching by Ken Raffensberger of the Phils' Rip Sewell of the Pirates and Jim Tobin of the Braves insured Tuesday's 7-1 decision, the most lopsided score in the series.

Spectators Pleased
Most of the 29,589 customers who helped boost the Service Bar and Ball fund by $106,275 were pleased with the sudden halt of the Americans' 3-year win streak as the series came around to Forbes Field for the first time.

Southworth's winners adopted an old American custom in pounding Tex Hughson of the Red Sox for four runs in a big fifth inning. Hughson had relieved Hank Borowy of the Yanks after he finished his three-inning stint with a 1-0 lead but Tex yielded five hits before Joe McCarthy waved in Bob Muncrief of the Browns.

With Borowy in control of the situation, the junior circuit stepped out in front in the second inning after threatening on two hits off starter Buckly Walters of the Reds in the first. Ken Keltner of the Indians opened the second with a single to left, moved around on infield outs by Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox and Rollie Hemsley of the Yanks and scored when Borowy beat out a hopper to Bobby Doerr for a scratch hit.

The roof caved in on Hughson in the fifth after the Nationals had gone scoreless for four frames. Connie Ryan of the Braves opened with a single to center, stole second and romped home when Bill Nicholson of the Cubs delivered a pinch-double that scorched the right field foul line and completely altered the complexion of the game.

Augie Galan of the Dodgers drove a hard smash through the box that Vern Stephens of the Browns got a glove on but couldn't hold. The ball rolled into short center for a single and Nicholson roared in to put the Nationals out in front. A walk to Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs who enjoyed a perfect night with a triple and single and three passes and an error by George McQuinn of the Browns loaded the bases. Walker Cooper of the Cards lined a single to left, scoring Galan but Cavarretta was cut down at the plate on a beautiful peg by Bob Johnson of the Red Sox. In the first inning Stan Spence of the Senators had nabbed Phil at the platter with a perfect toss from right.

One Hit in Last Six
Dixie Walker of the Dodgers rifled a single down the right field line chasing home Minal and McCarthy yanked Hughson for Muncrief who retired the side and got by without serious trouble until lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Lefty Hal Newhouser of the Tigers gave up the last three National runs, two in the seventh when Whitey Kurowski of the Cards doubled to the scoreboard in left following one-baggers by Cavarretta and Cooper.

Walters yielded five blows to the Americans in the first three frames but they were stopped completely by Raffensberger, Sewell and Tobin. The only hit in the last six innings was Spence's single to right in the fifth off the Phils southpaw.

Rabbits Perish In Fire Near Dicks Dam

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a hog pen and a shed on the farm of Robert Yealy, along the road leading from the Hanover-Carlisle highway to the Dicks Dam cottage colony Thursday night. A number of rabbits in the shed perished but no hogs were lost.

Occupants of the farm were visiting friends in New Oxford, when the fire was discovered at about 9 o'clock by a passerby enroute to a cottage at the creek. He drove to the G. C. Chronister home, along the Carlisle pike, and telephoned the New Oxford and Hampton fire companies.

While the firemen were being summoned, other passersby liberated hogs from the pen in which the fire started.

Swope, playing in a threesome with E. G. Cromwell, Chambersburg, R. 2, and O. H. Walburn, Washington, used a No. 2 iron on his tee shot, which landed short of the green, took one bounce and rolled the remaining 15 or 20 feet to the cup.

ARMY NEED FOR MORE TENTS IS WORRYING WPB

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Army has put in such a terrific demand for tents that War Production Board officials are in knots.

They say that as of now the textile mills can meet only 50 per cent of the requirements.

They say this, too: They may not even be able to fill the full order for tents by cutting into other lines.

So far they have ordered 8 per cent of the yarn, intended for tire cords, to be diverted to manufacturing the duck material which goes into tents.

Cut Upholstery

Very shortly they will cut into upholstery and corduroy manufacturing so the duck can be turned out.

They may decide to cut the manufacturing of denim which goes, just as corduroy does, into making work clothes. Most of those work clothes, however, happen to be for military purposes.

And they may even decide to dip further into the cord tire field for more yarn. This would mean fewer new tires.

This is the story the officials tell: In August, 1943, the military began canceling its orders for tent material.

But at the start of this year the Army began to see fresh need for more duck. By March the Army requested 300 million yards of duck by the end of 1944.

Demands Increase

Since then the demands have increased. The Navy and Maritime Commission also need duck.

Here are some of the reasons:

In the South Pacific mildew is destructive of tenting. In the island hopping campaign of the Pacific, tents are left behind on seized islands as bases of further operations.

In Italy, because of wide destruction of towns and civilian dwellings, Army commanders turned over large supplies of tents to homeless people.

The same will be true in the wake of the invasion of western Europe.

TELLS HOW WAR PRISONERS ARE TREATED HERE

Some of the German prisoners at the Gettysburg prisoner of war camp have been out of active duty less than one month and some have served as Nazi guards over Allied prisoners on the European continent. Capt. Laurence Thomas, camp commandant, stated in a talk Monday evening before the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Ruling out of the discussion some restricted topics, Captain Thomas described regulations under which the German prisoners are handled here and at other similar prison camps in this country and abroad.

The prisoners have thorough knowledge of the provisions of the Geneva conference, the officer said, and are quick to seek flaws in the manner in which its provisions are followed. He explained that the international agreement requires that a war prisoner be treated, fed and cared for in the same manner as are men of the same rank in the holding army.

"They cannot be subjected to the curious and cannot be interviewed. They can gain an interview with the camp commanding officer by going through prescribed channels. Serve Labor Needs

"The prisoners are not hard to handle," the captain asserted and indicated that the incident at the local camp last week was "quickly straightened out without difficulty." He said the chief cause "was ill-advised leadership from non-commissioned officers."

The captain's only reference to the two escaped prisoners was to note with a smile that the Gettysburg camp has now dropped to third place in the nation in number of escaped prisoners with one camp losing five and another, three. The escape here was described as "an unfortunate incident."

Captain Thomas, who was a school superintendent before re-entering military service, explained that the prison camp was placed here at the request of the War Manpower Commission and the Adams county canners. "The prisoner labor is not competitive and is not intended to be used where free labor is available. If no need for labor should exist here, the camp could disappear overnight."

Directed By WMCO The WMCO, he said, allocates the labor from the camp. Certificates of need must be provided through the WMCO. "The Army has nothing to do with the assignment of the prisoners to factories," he added.

The prevailing labor scale in the community in which the camp is operated is used as the basis for the prisoners' pay. The prisoners cannot receive more than 80 cents per day under terms of the Geneva conference. Officers who are prisoners and non-commissioned officers cannot be required to work and are not kept in the same camp as enlisted men, he added.

Captain Thomas said that during the two-week period in June the Gettysburg camp became the first to go on a "paying basis" financially for the government with the government receiving the prisoners' pay in excess of the 80 cents per day given each man.

Scotts Local Originally scheduled to remain until November 1 but with the pea canning season shortened by the dry weather and with a similar prospect in sight for the bean and tomato crops changes in plans may be necessary, the speaker indicated. He said that when the food harvesting and canning season is over the prisoners may be transferred to pulpwood cutting work.

Captain Thomas referred to the "many types of unfounded rumors which have been current in this community about the camp" and spoke specially of one frequently heard comment. "People say the prisoners are too well treated but we are bound to treat them with the same care and consideration given our own men because we are bound by the Geneva regulations. We know our men are not receiving the same treatment in enemy prison camps. Even if the Geneva rules were to be followed, they would not get the same treatment we deal out here because the standards of the Axis armies are so much lower than ours."

Captain Thomas was presented to the chamber by Burgess Fred G. Pfeiffer.

Farmer Is Found Unconscious In Car

Harvey J. Hull, Crouse Park, Littlestown, a farmer, was reported to be in a "good" condition Friday at the Warner hospital where he was admitted in an unconscious condition Thursday morning after he had been carried from his automobile in a closed garage by County Commissioner J. Arthur Boyd.

A Littlestown physician was called and ordered Hull to the hospital by ambulance. Carbon monoxide fumes from the garage are said to have attracted attention and when Mr. Boyd gained entrance through a front door, Mr. Hull's unconscious form was found in the machine. The car's motor was not running when the rescue was made.

The invasion was the first action with the enemy for Rummel, who has received citations for being in the American, European and African theaters of war. A former carpenter's helper at the Mechanics' Navy Supply Depot, he attended Gettysburg high school and has a brother also in the service, serving with the air force in England.

Letters To The Editor

June 29th Dear Sir:

I am writing these few lines tonight to those who carry the responsibility of sending your paper and our paper, The Gettysburg Times, to the servicemen at home and to those of us overseas. I am writing this for myself and for others that appreciate your kindness just as much as I do. I would like to say more for those other fellows because they are doing a bangup job but I guess you all realize that.

I have a shipmate aboard from home. Often in the wee hours of the morning we can be found leaning on the rail relishing the times that we have had in the old school or recalling the people that we think so much about. The paper plays an important part in our discussions too.

We have these thoughts on our minds every one of us. Not just the boys from Gettysburg but those from all the thousands of other towns and cities in our nation. They're all fighting for the day when they can once again come home to all of those that they love and to the United States of America. I don't think that I am exaggerating at all when I say the most wonderful country of them all. Some people say that war changes a man. I agree in one respect. A man over here has enough time to think and to see for himself a shattered and war torn world. It may sound silly but it's the truth.

These are the times that we can appreciate his country more. Yes, these men have learned to love their country and all of the things it stands for. The liberty, the freedom and justice for all.

In closing I will repeat that I am saying these things, not for myself alone, but for all of us who are trying our level best to make this world a place of happiness and of freedom. I know that all of the boys will agree with me. Thank you again for your thoughtfulness.

Sincerely,

MM. 3-c BERT LARKIN.

Dear Sir: This is to inform you that I am well and safe.

I can't tell you where I am as everything from now on is hush, hush.

Once again I wish to thank you for sending me The Gettysburg Times.

Sincerely yours,

PFC. J. E. CATO, c-o Postmaster New York, N. Y.

HE WAS ONLY AN OLD MAN, SEEKING JOB

The hunt for the escaped prisoners of war reached its comic peak Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock when some 30 residents of the Littlestown-Rock Chapel area, on foot and in cars, gave chase to and surrounded a man they believed to be one of the escaped prisoners.

Someone saw the "suspicious character" walking on the Rock Chapel road en route to the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. Ideas of escaped prisoners rapidly circulated and the crowd grew rapidly. Some followed, some preceded the man in question. Some went by car, some walked. The object of the posse continued on his way unconcerned.

It was seen that his shoes were worn out, his clothes old and dirty. When a question was asked him by one member who was bold enough to come close enough to ask a question the man answered in what appeared to be a foreign tongue.

Just an Old Man

The crowd kept stalking the man, the man kept on his way apparently unconcerned and Pvt. George Ackerson of the local state police answered the call to the local sub-station stating that an escaped prisoner was surrounded and would the police come and pick him up please?

Ackerson arrived and discovered some slight differences between the man followed by the crowd and the escaped prisoners. For one thing the prisoners are both young men. The man near Rock Chapel was 57 years old. And he did speak English even though his speech was somewhat broken.

Private Ackerson took the man into custody and the crowd dispersed. At Gettysburg Ackerson gave the "prisoner," Walter Spzak of Bedford county, a new pair of shoes and wished him well as Spzak continued his journey to York to seek a job.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

June 29th Dear Sir:

I want to thank you again for sending me the "Times". Jim Kuhns from Littlestown, Pa., also thanks you for the paper. I always give them to him after I get through reading the news from the home front which I always find very interesting. Jim is in the Army infantry and is stationed here at the Naval base as an MP. I usually get to talk to him once a week or more and believe me we certainly have a hard time trying to convince the rebels that there is such a place as Gettysburg. Well maybe they just didn't read their history books that is the only reason I can figure out.

Here it is July coming around the corner and I've been over here only four months. It really seems as though its been years. It really seems funny here in the ETO, because now that its summer time it is only dark for about two and a half hours, the sun no more than gets down when "presto" its up again. The weather is very hard to get along with because its either too warm or too cold.

I suppose you have all read about the robot planes that the rats are now using against England. We must admit it is quite an invention but it will be wiped out very soon. While reading The Stars and Stripes which is our daily newspaper I came across a very good joke so I am now giving it to you.

Paging Superman! We've got a new job for you, come over to the ETO. stand in the channel, grab these robot planes as they come over, turn them around and send them back to Berlin!

Pretty cute isn't it?

From reading your paper I can see that Adams county is surely doing its part to win this war. Also that everyone would turn to prayer when the announcement of the invasion has started. It is a very good idea and believe me all the boys over here certainly need prayers and plenty of them so keep the prayers coming and we will do our part to bring this battle to an end soon.

I will close now wishing everyone the best of luck and happiness in the world. May God bless and bring us all safely home to our loved ones.

A faithful reader,

Joseph Bosak

Lauds Benefactors

The Ladies' Auxiliary since its establishment has given between $11,000 and $12,000 to the upkeep of the hospital, Doctor Wolff said. Dr. J. McCrea Dickson was also one of the principal benefactors of the hospital, leaving at the time of his death equipment worth $15,000 which he had purchased during his years at the hospital, and left as part of the hospital's property.

The interest of Doctor Dickson in purchasing, with his own money, equipment for the hospital did much to give the hospital the "unique position it has" of being one of the best equipped hospitals in this area. Doctor Dickson often turned back one-half of his income to the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The staff of the hospital, made up of the various doctors of Adams county, has always been "up and coming," Doctor Wolff added.

While not experimentalists, the staff has constantly been employing new techniques and methods at the hospital and has been first in this section in many instances in using improved methods including serial spinal anesthesia, caudal anesthesia, blood plasma, penicillin and a number of other new drugs. The hospital is one of the few small hospitals to have the machinery to make its own blood plasma, which has brought its cost to patients down from $40 to $10.

Keep Up to Date

Little of the equipment purchased for the hospital in the last 23 years has ever been discarded "because when it was purchased, only the best was bought." The old X-ray machine in the hospital is being used now for X-ray treatment and "is as good as a brand new machine of its power." The new X-ray machine is the "latest word in such machinery." The laboratory at the hospital is "second to none."

Many of the great advancements in medical science in recent years have been discovered since the hospital was founded, including insulin, penicillin and the sulpha drugs. Doctor Wolff pointed out. In each instance the hospital has been among the first to use the new drugs.

The Smith-Peterson nail, which allows the setting of some types of hip fractures without the use of casts was shown to the members of the Rotary club by Doctor Wolff, who also showed a series of X-ray pictures showing the placing of a patient at the local hospital. The nail, made of stainless steel, remains in the hip socket unless the patient asks that it be removed, after the bone has healed. One patient, in whom a nail was placed several years ago, was recently X-rayed and the nail was shown in its original position, Doctor Wolff said.

Shows New Devices

In the future, Doctor Wolff said, many different types of fractures will be set without the use of casts. He showed two Zimmerman splints recently purchased by the hospital and which have not yet been used, due to the fact that no one has been brought to the hospital with a fracture of the type for which the splint can be used. The splint, used for fractures of the long bones, has four long screws, two to be placed above the break and two below and clamps tight through the use of a number

Charles J. Reeder, proprietor of New Central hotel, Center Square, Hanover, and Earl S. Bittinger, owner of Bittinger's Super Market, Hanover, have leased the Cross Keys hotel, Lincoln Highway, from the owner, Charles H. Bittinger, and plan to reopen the hotel about Labor Day.

They have made an application for an alcoholic beverage license and also plan to cater to banquets Sunday dinners and special food service for truck drivers and tourists. Mr. Reeder has been a successful motor operator for 37 years. Mr. Bittinger has been in the retail grocery and produce business for several years.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

The old and the new at the Warner hospital, its benefactors and some of the developments in medicine and surgery that have come about since its establishment were the topic of a talk given Monday evening by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon at the hospital, to the local Rotary club at its meeting in the YWCA.

Steady growth has characterized the local hospital, Doctor Wolff asserted, with the number of patients growing from 436 during 1921, the first year the hospital was open, to 1,768 in 1943. The number of maternity cases has grown from 182 ten years ago to 413 in 1943. So far 22,640 cases have been treated since the opening of the hospital March 17, 1921.

The number of patients at the hospital is expected to increase annually, the hospital surgeon pointed out, with more and more counties taking advantage of hospitalization and medical treatment insurance plans which permit many who formerly could not afford it to go to the hospital for treatment.

Was Well Founded

To meet the expected increase in patients the 73-bed capacity hospital will possibly be expanded to about 100 bed capacity in the near future if present tentative plans are completed. While asserting that all plans for expansion are completely indefinite at present many indications point toward possible construction of some additional room at the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The local hospital, one of the few in the country to operate without losing money, "was established well by its founders and has continued in that course," Doctor Wolff said in praising the members of the board of directors, both those in the past and present directors for "serving well and doing a perfect job as directors." The board, the late John D. Keith and the Ladies' Auxiliary were listed as among the chief benefactors of the hospital by the local surgeon.

HERE AND THERE

It's unfortunate that Gettysburg is to lose Camp George H. Sharpe. The camp will move to another nearby site on August 1, to be replaced by a labor camp.

Camp Sharpe was not a large camp and there was little or no publicity attending its operation here. But to have several hundred men moving in and out of town every few months and the occasional Army vehicle passing through the streets gave this historic little community a little touch of the war-strife.

The officers and men who made up Camp Sharpe were well liked in the community, although the nature of their training precluded little more than casual acquaintanceships. Still it gave Gettysburg a touch of khaki color and a little pride in being unofficial host to an Army camp.

Gettysburg will miss Camp Sharpe and it is hoped that before many months pass the old site will again house an Army unit of like popularity.

General Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, prophesied months before the invasion of France, that the war in Europe would be over this year.

Victory over the German hordes should be an occasion of world-wide rejoicing, especially in this country because so many of our own men are waging the victorious struggle.

When that great day comes what does Gettysburg propose to do?

Some plans should be made now to observe that historic event when it happens. Plans should be made to sound a pre-arranged signal for the collapse of the Nazi armies and a schedule of activities for the day should be prepared now.

If you have any suggestions send them in.

Several days ago a young Army colonel, enroute to his home in Altoona, stopped at the home of Mrs. John D. Keith, Gettysburg. He said that he had only 15 minutes but did not want to continue without stopping to tell Mrs. Keith that he had only returned, a week before, from Iceland where he was on duty with American troops, and where he had seen Cpl. John E. "Jack" Keith, grandson of Mrs. Helen Himes Keith, late of New Oxford.

He said that "Jack" was in fine health, good spirits and serving his country well in that northern post. He also delivered a message from "Jack" to his mother.

When Mrs. Keith expressed her thanks and gratitude for the personal message and the courtesy of the colonel going out of his way to deliver a message for a corporal, the colonel replied:

"It is my pleasure, Mrs. Keith. I am glad for the opportunity to repay you. About 12 or 14 years ago, while I was attending Gettysburg college, you picked me up on the Harrisburg road, where I was 'thumping' my way, and took me to Harrisburg. With you was a chubby youngster. I was grateful to you for the lift when I was anxious to get home."

"That chubby youngster was Jack Keith and I met him in Iceland. I had several visits with him and when I was to return to the states I was more than glad for the opportunity to deliver a message to you from him."

The young officer was Colonel Forrest Fullerton Smith, of Altoona, who graduated from Gettysburg college in 1931.

NAZI SCREAMS FOR PEACE IS AGE OLD STUFF SAYS OBSERVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
If further proof were needed of the desperate straits of Hitlerdom it would be found in Nazi Minister Joseph Goebbels' latest publication which the United States office of war information describes as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."
Goebbels' plea is contained in an article distributed by the official German DNB agency and recorded in this country by the federal communications commission. It isn't by any means the first effort of its kind made recently by the Hitlerites, since there have been at least half a dozen feelers put out by Berlin. However, it represents a monumental display of brass, coming as it does on top of the Nazi threat to "turn Europe into a maelstrom of destruction" in an attempt to make the Allies come to terms.

Unscrupulous Murderer
This is the same demagogic Goebbels whom I heard whipping a crowd of fifty thousand in Berlin up to war fever back at the time of Munich. To give the devil his due, he is a past master at tub-thumping and is clever in much of his propaganda. He has the knack of giving the tinge of truth to his lies. However, he's one of the most unscrupulous of Hitler's murderous gang and has been one of the fuhrer's mainstays in making war against the Allies whom he now begs to be lenient. He's a dangerous man.

Those of us who were at Versailles to see the last peace made with Germany, and who watched the subsequent manipulations of Prussian militarism and Hitlerism at close range, have not the slightest doubt that the Germans will make war on us again if we don't smash them now. Indeed, Allied intelligence agents have found ample proof that the Prussian high command, which long has recognized that the Reich couldn't win the war, has been planning for a comeback twenty-five years hence.

Must Erase 2 Isms
The Allied problem of how to deal with Prussian aggression isn't new to this war or to the last. This militarism has been the plague of Europe for many decades. There can be no peace until Prussianism and its running mate, Nazism, are literally wiped out.
The argument made by many of those who advocate lenience towards the Nazis is that the demand of unconditional surrender will only make Germany fight harder and longer. I don't believe that represents the consensus of professional observers. The general view is that, lenience or no lenience, the Hitlerites will quit when they have their bellies full and not before.

Anyway, the Allied peoples as a whole seem firmly determined to see the thing through to a finish. The British house of lords reflected the general attitude very well a couple of days ago when Lord Vansittart, exponent of using the mailed fist on Germany, denounced the Nazi regime. He secured a government pledge that "the whole devilish (Gestapo) organization will be rooted out," and that the German people and Army will have to share the onus of the Nazi crimes.
While Goebbels' appeal for peace will be wasted on the desert air so far as the Allies are concerned, it's worth noting that it does serve to prepare the German public for the surrender which must come sooner or later. Probably the propaganda minister had this in mind.

New Raid Warning System In Effect

Harrisburg, July 15 (AP)—A new air raid warning system goes into effect throughout Pennsylvania Monday night at 8 o'clock.
The system may become the commonwealth's permanent plan of dealing with all civilian disasters, even in peace time, and is an outgrowth of a change of procedure recently devised by the third service command at Baltimore, the State Defense Council said.
Under the revised program the responsibility for future warnings on practice blackouts, air raid drills or enemy action rests entirely with the Pennsylvania Civilian Defense Council.

The third service command will notify the state control center at Harrisburg should there be any cause for a state-wide alarm. The state council will then transmit the warning to every county in Pennsylvania.
Warnings will be flashed from the state control center to Philadelphia for the southeastern part of the state, to Allentown for the eastern part and to Pittsburgh for the western part. All central counties will be warned directly from Harrisburg.

Chungking July 15 (AP)—The Japanese again encircled the pivotal Hunan city of Hengyang July 10, three days after the Chinese had broken the siege, and it still is surrounded, a Chinese Army spokesman said today.

PARIS ROAD HUBS BOMBED

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, July 15 (AP)—British Lancaster bombers hammered at railroads in the suburbs of Paris early today. This was a climax to widespread night air assaults in which other heavies hit flying bomb installations in France and Mosquitoes ripped into German positions in Normandy and objective in Germany.

The important Villeneuve-St. Gorges railroad yards on the southeastern outskirts of Paris gave the Lancasters their target for this morning. Reconnaissance had disclosed large concentrations of rolling stock there, loaded with supplies for the battle area.

Seven bombers were missing from the attack on Villeneuve-St. Gorges. Both Lancasters and Halifaxes participated in the night blow on the robot lairs, which were attacked twice in daylight yesterday by RAF heavy bombers. Flying bombs fell in the southern counties during the night, causing damage and casualties.

Blast Barracks
One of the night Mosquito formations sped to 60 miles south of Tours, and made a low-level attack on German barracks in a forest. They dumped more than 32 tons of bombs on the buildings. Other Mosquitoes continued their attacks on German communications throughout the night.

The U. S. Army air force announced yesterday's Liberator attack on targets in the Aemien area resulted in no loss of bombers or escorting fighters. Only 1,000 offensive sorties were flown from Britain and Normandy yesterday, but the Allied airmen downed 25 German planes during daylight for the loss of seven. Two other enemy planes were destroyed last night.

American fighter-bombers destroyed 187 railroad cars and 12 locomotives and cut rail lines at 13 points in yesterday's attacks on enemy transportation south of the battlefield.

ROOSEVELT IS SAID TO FAVOR WALLACE AGAIN

By JACK BELL

Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Vice presidential candidacies popped up like lightning rods over Chicago's loop today as anxious Democrats awaited word from National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan on the White House attitude towards their ticket's second place entry.

Hannegan reportedly had in his possession a letter from President Roosevelt to the party convention, which will begin the business next week of nominating him for a fourth term, expressing preference for the renomination of vice president Henry Agard Wallace, but leaving the final decision to the delegates.

With many candidates contending that Wallace cannot win on his own steam, the list of those who hastened to make themselves available for any lightning that might strike lengthened hourly.

Among the latest whose names came to the front were four Senators: Alfred (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, Claude Pepper of Florida, Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Elbert Thomas of Utah.

Broughton, Byrd

These, along with Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, Supreme Court Justice, William O. Douglas, War Mobilization Director James S. Byrnes, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois and Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, were listed in pre-convention lobby gossip as in a receptive frame of mind.

In contrast, lithographed brochures were in circulation urging the availability of Governor Joseph M. Broughton of North Carolina.

Like Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who ran for first and got second place on the Republican ticket, Broughton was about the only openly avowed candidate for vice president. Even Wallace has not said publicly that his hat is in the ring.

In another quarter, a quiet move was reported under way to bring the name of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, consistent critic of the administration, before the convention as a vice-presidential candidate.

Price Panel Ends Ceiling Price Case

Junior Francis Erb, York Springs, was x-rayed at the Warner hospital Friday evening for an injury to his right ankle caused when a tractor ran over his foot while he was employed by H. T. Doherty, York Springs R. 2.

Among those who have been admitted to the hospital are Dolores Bernger, East Stevens street; Jane Flickinger, Arendtsville; Nancy Lee, Gettysburg R. 3, and Howard Harman and Glenn Hartzell, of Cashion, all of whom underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils; and Mrs. Richard Smith, York street.

Those discharged include Mrs. John Kaas, Rocky Ridge, Md.; Barbara Ann Fohl, Gettysburg; Daniel and Joyce Stoops, Waynesboro; David Kregel and Dallas Duncan, both of Emmitsburg; Elmer Warren, Gettysburg and Mrs. C. Chester Plank and infant daughter, Loraine Christine, York Springs.

X-ray For Tractor Injury To Ankle

Since no agreement could be reached by Elmer E. Leppo, York, and Mac McCarty, New Oxford, concerning a claimed ceiling price violation on the part of Mr. McCarty, the case was ordered closed by the York price panel at a meeting Friday night in York.

Mr. Leppo had charged Mr. McCarty with demanding $475 for a 1937 Chevrolet pick-up truck, the ceiling price of which was said to be $335. Denying the charges, Mr. McCarty claimed that Mr. Leppo had paid $310 for the truck. The case was ordered closed as the local OPA stated that no refunds can be made to the purchaser on this type of truck but must be paid to the Treasury department, Washington. It was stated that the panel has no further authority in the case.

Japs Execute Yank Airmen

New York, July 15 (AP)—A Japanese broadcast directed to American forces in the southwest Pacific and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission today said several American airmen captured in the first Superfortress raid on northern Kyushu last month had been executed.

The broadcast warned that "any Allied airman who falls or bails out over Japan will be executed."

"This is the order of the day," it added.

The American airmen met with "the same fate which was meted out to raiders of Tokyo—some two years ago," continued the broadcast.

FCC monitors said the announcement was contained in a Japanese spokesman's "special talk" from the Singapore transmitter. Reception was poor and only a few excerpts in English were intelligible, the monitors said.

LOCAL SEAMAN PREPARES FOR INVASION DUTY

S 1/c William H. Small, 44 West High street, and a former employee of The Gettysburg Times is nearing completion of his course which is preparing him for service with the amphibious forces aboard an LST.

Landing Ship Tank, one of the largest of the Navy's invasion fleet. Seaman Small has been assigned to the crew of an LST at the Amphibious Training Base, Camp Bradford, Va., where he is going through the strenuous training required of bluejackets who man the beach-hitting tank carriers.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes.

Seek 30,000 Ships
Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Camp Bradford, where Seaman Small is stationed, is one of a group of bases operated by the Amphibious Training Command of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet along the eastern seaboard. The Bradford base is readying thousands of Navy men to operate the ships of the amphibious fleet, fast-growing toward its year-end goal of 30,000 new landing craft.

Seaman Small is a son of Walter Small, South Washington street, and his wife, resides with her parents on West High street.

GERMANY IS ASKING PEACE

(By The Associated Press)
An article by German propagandist minister Paul Joseph Goebbels declaring that Germany and her enemies both "want peace and calm" has been interpreted by the U. S. office of war information as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

The article appeared in this week's issue of the German magazine Das Reich. As broadcast in summary by the Berlin radio in the English language for consumption in the United States and Britain, the article appeared to be another form of Nazi propaganda against Bolshevism and a new attempt to drive a wedge between the British-American allies and the Soviet union.

In this account, recorded by the Associated Press, Goebbels was quoted directly as saying, "all want peace and calm except Bolshevism, which wants continued unrest and chaos."

Meanwhile an Associated Press dispatch from Madrid said Das Schwarze Korps, organ of the Nazi SS, declared recently that "there is no use kidding ourselves. This phase of the war now beginning has grimmer meaning than all the phases that have gone before."

This article was headlined "It's Life or Death" and contained such statements "there is no more mercy left in the world."

Duck Soup—?

By EDWARD D. BALL
On the Ay River, Normandy, July 14 (Delayed) (AP)—Through field glasses little damage was evident today in the town of Lessay toward which American troops are advancing through a Normandy jungle of undergrowth and hedges.

Pvt. Dale E. Cluck, of Gettysburg, Pa., declared "the battle of Gettysburg must have been duck soup compared to this kind of fighting."

As they advanced the Americans threw loudspeakers into action, calling upon the enemy in German, Polish and Russian to surrender.

65 PLUMBING AND HEATING ITEMS OPENED

Dollars-and-cents ceiling prices have been set for 65 used and reconditioned plumbing and heating items, and maximum prices provided for most others by applying a specified percentage discount from the manufacturer's list price for the article when new, the OPA announced today.

The new regulation, effective August 9, covers sales at both retail and wholesale, with prices based generally on March 1942 levels.

Items covered include used plumbing and heating material, reconditioned heating equipment, automatic hot water heaters, and second and culls of new items. They are made available to dealers by building wreckers who salvage the plumbing and heating materials. Nor that old buildings are being improved sufficiently to make them last out the war, wrecking of buildings is virtually at a standstill.

Demand Is Increasing

The curtailment of production of new plumbing and heating equipment, and the limitation of sales to those holding essential priority ratings have caused a greatly increased demand for the used and reconditioned items.

The new specific prices will end confusion in the industry as to applicable ceiling prices, and will protect consumers from paying unreasonable prices. At the same time, the normal relationship between the prices of new and used and reconditioned plumbing and heating equipment will be re-established.

Items covered by the dollars-and-cents prices include bathtubs, lavatories, sinks, faucets, shower bath fixtures, cast-iron radiators, etc. For items not listed in the price schedule—such as reconditioned boilers and hot water heaters, and second and culls of new equipment—specific percentages are deducted from manufacturers' list prices for the articles when new.

Posters showing dollars and cents ceiling prices for 65 items of used plumbing and heating equipment covered by this regulation, are available at the OPA district office. There are four posters, two showing retail prices, two showing wholesale prices.

T. R. IS BURIED IN NORMANDY

U. S. Fourth Division Cemetery in France, July 15 (AP)—Machine guns rattled in the distance and anti-aircraft fire burst in faraway clouds as military funeral services were held in the Normandy twilight last night for Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

The general's son, Quentin, watched as his father's body was lowered in the French soil on which he had fought in two wars against German aggression. Quentin is a captain in the "Fighting First" division, which was his father's favorite.

Beside the grave were six generals, including Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, in command of all U. S. troops in France. Others included high-ranking officers of the first division and the fourth division, of which Roosevelt was assistant commander when he died of a heart attack Wednesday.

Taps Are Sounded
The divisional band headed the procession down the long aisle between rows of white painted wood-cen crosses. Behind it came the firing squad and color guard bearing the American and Fourth division flags.

Col. Peter C. Schroeder, First Army chaplain and former pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Flushing, N. Y., and Lt. Col. James A. Bryant, Crystal Springs, Miss., Fourth division chaplain, preceded the flag-covered coffin, carried on an armored truck.

Eight riflemen fired three volleys over the grave. After taps were sounded, scores of patriotic French resistance leaders and their families tossed fresh white and red roses into the open grave.

Russians Pressing Forward Toward German Soil; Yanks Nearing Seaport Of Livorno

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 15 (AP)—American troops have driven to within three and a half miles of the seaport of Livorno in the wake of suddenly melting German resistance, and have recaptured the town of Chianni, 13 miles inland from the west coast, it was announced today.

The most significant gains in the past two weeks of heavy fighting, putting the Fifth Army within artillery range of Livorno and nine miles from the Arno river, were made yesterday, with the battered Germans falling back at most points.

The French, who celebrated Bastille Day by seizing Poggibonsi in a combined flanking move and direct assault, pursued the enemy northward.

Occupy All Important Heights

In a broad forward sweep, one American column passed Ghizzano, 23 miles due east of Livorno, and occupied all the important heights covering the approach to the Arno river, 10 miles away.

Another American force captured Villamagna, 15 miles west of Poggibonsi, while still other U. S. units swept through Chianni and Belvedere, enemy strongholds guarding the Era valley avenue toward the Arno valley.

Belvedere is five and a half miles northeast of Chianni.

Americans also captured Peccioli, another strong-point in the Era river valley, only nine airline miles from the river's junction with the Arno.

In the coastal sector Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces moved up three to five miles.

In an apparent effort to protect the withdrawal of other divisions which suffered heavy losses in recent fighting, the Nazi command sent the third Panzer grenadier division back into the line on the Fifth Army front after a week's rest.

Take 32,000 Prisoners

Prisoners taken by the Fifth Army since it started its offensive May 11 now exceed 32,000, while the Eighth Army reported prisoners were pouring into its cages at an average rate of 160 daily since the offensive began. This would add a total of more than 10,000.

The Eighth Army occupied the village of Stanta Lucia in the upper Tiber valley and advanced to within two miles of Citra di Castello, a road junction. Heavy fighting continued for hills dominating that junction.

In the Arezzo area the British exerted steady pressure on the enemy. Farther east the Eighth Army straightened its lines by advancing through Gualdo Tadino to Fossato di Vico, 23 miles northeast of Perugia.

Italian troops occupied Cingoli, 22 miles southeast of the east coast port of Ancona and the village of Strada, two miles north of Cingoli, to assist in straightening the line

Receives Rosary From Pope In Rome

Pvt. Harry S. Oyler, 21-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Oyler, 223 Baltimore street, was among a group of Allied soldiers who were recently received in audience by the Pope, according to a letter received by his parents today.

The Americans, on a brief leave in Rome, went to St. Peter's Cathedral where they were received by the Pope. After a brief address the Pope blessed the group and presented each soldier with a black and silver Rosary. Young Oyler sent his Rosary to his parents.

The local youth is serving his 19th month in service.

Yanks Advance Four Miles In Normandy Within 24 Hours

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 15 (AP)—The American First Army besieged three key Nazi fortified road junction towns in the Cherbourg peninsula today—Periers, Lessay and St. Lo—after a four-mile advance in 24 hours.

The four-mile southward drive from the marshes of Plessis towards Periers was the largest one-day advance rolled up on the peninsula since the fall of Cherbourg. Coupled with other advances, it left the Americans in these positions:

Lessay—One mile north of the town after the capture of the hamlet of Beauvais, converging on the town from the east where they were two miles away at Pissot, while on the west they were about a mile and a half away after advancing from St. Germain-Sur-Ay.

Periers—A late telephone call from the 21st Army group this morning said the Americans had driven to within two miles of the town from the north. The exact position was not given. Previous information a few hours before, however, recorded the capture of Les Granges and Gonfreville, four miles north of the town.

St. Lo—Late information this morning said the Americans had pushed west from La Barre de Semilly, breaking the deadlock there, but did not give the exact distance of the advance. This one pincer was closing on the town while a half-mile advance northwest of St. Lo, down the Vire river, through Creteville, placed another American column less than three miles from St. Lo in this direction.

Allied air forces recorded destruction of 27 German planes, against a loss of 14, with bad weather holding individual plane flights to about 1,000.

As they retreat, the Germans are blowing up bridges and laying mine fields and ambushes.

R. C. NUTRITION COURSE TO OPEN

Mrs. Anna DePlanter Bowes, chief of the nutrition division of the Maternal and Child Health bureau of the State Department of Health, will be the lecturer for the first session of the Red Cross Nutrition course to be held next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Red Cross rooms in the Topper building on Baltimore street.

Mrs. Bowes, who is widely known as a teacher, lecturer and author in the field of nutrition, will speak on the topic, "Are Americans Well Fed?"

The lecture is open to the public and all women interested are urged to attend regardless of whether they wish to continue with the later sessions of the course. The Nutrition course is being offered in response to a request from "national Red Cross headquarters" for the purpose of developing a trained canteen corps as a part of the Red Cross Volunteer Special Services in this county. The 10-lesson nutrition course is being offered as a foundation for the Canteen course.

By EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, July 15 (AP)—The German Army, facing the prospect of imminent fighting on its own soil in East Prussia, was preparing for a street-by-street and building-by-building defense against the Russians in at least three of five key cities on the long eastern battle line, front dispatches said today and three German news agencies announced the Russians opened the "long expected" attack between Tarnapol and Luck in southern Poland yesterday.

The Germans were throwing up street barricades and defenses in buildings and houses in Grodno, Bialystok and Brest Litovsk, and bracing against the steadily advancing Russians in the Baltic cities of Kaunas and Daugavpils (Dvinsk) the dispatches said.

Nazi Lines Blasted Wide Open

The Nazi line was reported wide open in numerous sectors from the Velikaya river, last barrier to the middle Baltics, to south of the Pripyat Marsh region around captured Pinsk. The Germans appeared unable to hold anywhere as five Russian armies spilled westward with growing momentum.

(The British radio, in a French language broadcast to Europe recorded by U. S. government monitors, declared the Germans had started to dismount installations in the fortress port of Königsberg, seacoast capital of East Prussia.)

Meanwhile, Gen. Ivan Bagramian drove a deep tank wedge into Lithuania, threatening to cut off the Latvian seaport of Riga and Estonia from the south.

Russian armored columns slashing through the open country between Vilno and Daugavpils reached places 36 miles east of Panevezys in north central Lithuania and 81 miles from Siauliai.

The Red Army units advanced 23 miles along a route that may lead eventually to the Baltic Sea and the port of Memel.

Head For Rail Hub

Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's third White Russian Army, advancing toward Kaunas, widened its front before the city and made for the railway 18 miles away—the line that connects Germany and East Prussia with Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

This was one of the most dangerous thrusts for the Germans of the whole current campaign, for while the railway is not the only line left out of Latvia and Estonia, it is a main line over which virtually all military traffic moves.

The Moscow communique said the Red Army, advancing westward along a line less than 20 miles from East Prussia, had broken the German Nieman river line southeast of Grodno, and was closing within seven miles of that strong point. Capture of Versteleski (Wierciszewo), seven miles east, and Zhdomlya, eight miles southeast was announced.

Russian troops, in a fierce engagement, crossed to the west bank of the Niemen, the communique added.

SCOUTS HELP WITH HARVEST OF MANY CROPS

Ninety per cent of the members of the Boy Scout troops of Gettysburg and all of the scouts in the Biglerville, Arendtsville and Cashtown areas are working in the cherry orchards or doing other farm work. Dr. Frederick Tuberg, president of the Black Walnut scouting district, announced today.

The total number of scouts at work is 150 with the ages of the members ranging from 12 to 15 years of age. Twenty-seven scouts from York are also engaged in work in the Adams county orchards with that number being included among the high school fruit picking group stationed in the Biglerville high school building.

Cashtown's troop, despite the fact that all members are working on the farms and orchards, led the district in securing of war bond pledges during the Fifth War Loan drive. Doctor Tuberg reported. The troop secured pledges for 114 bonds, with a face value of $4,875. During the Fourth War Loan drive the Cashtown troop also led the district, securing 145 pledges with a value of $7,425.

Among the scout troops participating in the war loan drive was the Girl Scout troop of St. James Lutheran church. The Fifth War Loan drive marked the first time the Girl Scouts have participated in the "Scouts as Gleaners campaign" during war bond drives, it was stated.

ARMY NEED FOR MORE TENTS IS WORRYING WPB

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Army has put in such a terrific demand for tents that War Production Board officials are in knots.

They say that as of now the textile mills can meet only 50 per cent of the requirements.

They say this, too: They may not even be able to fill the full order for tents by cutting into other lines.

So far they have ordered 8 per cent of the year, intended for tire cords, to be diverted to manufacturing the duck material which goes into tents.

Cut Upholstery

Very shortly they will cut into upholstery and corduroy manufacturing so the duck can be turned out.

They may decide to cut the manufacture of denim which goes, just as corduroy does, into making work clothes. Most of those work clothes, however, happen to be for military purposes.

And they may even decide to dip further into the cord tire field for more yarn. This would mean fewer new tires.

This is the story the officials tell: In August, 1943, the military began cancelling its orders for tent material.

But at the start of this year the Army began to see fresh need for more duck. By March the Army requested 300 million yards of duck by the end of 1944.

Demands Increase

Since then the demands have increased. The Navy and Maritime Commission also need duck.

Here are some of the reasons: In the South Pacific milder is destructive of tenting. In the island hopping campaign of the Pacific, tents are left behind on seized islands as bases of further operations.

In Italy, because of wide destruction of towns and civilian dwellings, Army commanders turned over large supplies of tents to homeless people.

The same will be true in the wake of the invasion of western Europe.

NAZI SCREAMS FOR PEACE IS AGE OLD STUFF SAYS OBSERVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

If further proof were needed of the desperate straits of Hitlerdom it would be found in Nazi Minister Joseph Goebbels' latest publication which the United States office of war information describes as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

Goebbels' plea is contained in an article distributed by the official German DNE agency and recorded in this country by the federal communications commission. It isn't by any means the first effort of its kind made recently by the Hitlerites, since there have been at least half a dozen feelers put out by Berlin. However, it represents a monumental display of brass, coming as it does on top of the Nazi threat to "turn Europe into a maelstrom of destruction" in an attempt to make the Allies come to terms.

Unscrupulous Murderer

This is the same demagogic Goebbels whom I heard whipping a crowd of fifty thousand in Berlin up to war fever back at the time of Munich. To give the devil his due, he is a past master at tub-thumping and is clever in much of his propaganda. He has the knack of giving the thing of truth to his lies. However, he's one of the most unscrupulous of Hitler's murderous gang and has been one of the fiercest mainstays in making war against the Allies whom he now begs to be lenient. He's a dangerous man.

Those of us who were at Versailles to see the last peace made with Germany, and who watched the subsequent manipulations of Prussian militarism and Hitlerism at close range, have not the slightest doubt that the Germans will make war on us again if we don't smash them now. Indeed, Allied intelligence agents have found ample proof that the Prussian high command, which long has recognized that the Reich couldn't win the war, has been planning for a comeback twenty-five years hence.

Must Erase 2 Isms

The Allied problem of how to deal with Prussian aggression isn't new to this war or to the last. This militarism has been the plague of Europe for many decades. There can be no peace until Prussianism and its running mate, Nazism, are utterly wiped out.

The argument made by many of those who advocate lenience towards the Nazis is that the demand of unconditional surrender will only make Germans fight harder and longer. I don't believe that represents the consensus of professional observers. The general view is that, lenience or no lenience, the Hitlerites will quit when they have their bellies full and not before.

Anyway, the Allied peoples as a whole seem firmly determined to see the thing through to a finish. The British house of lords reflected the general attitude very well a couple of days ago when Lord Vansittart, exponent of using the mallet on Germany, denounced the Nazi regime. He secured a government pledge that "the whole civilized (Gestapo) organization will be rooted out," and that the German people and army will have to share the onus of the Nazi crimes.

While Goebbels' appeal for peace will be wasted on the desert air so far as the Allies are concerned, it is worth noting that it does serve to prepare the German public for the surrender which must come sooner or later. Probably the propaganda minister had this in mind.

New Raid Warning System In Effect

Harrisburg, July 15 (AP)—A new raid warning system goes into effect tomorrow. Peris, and Monday night at a glance.

The system may be the first of a new wave of permanent plan of dealing with all common dangers even in peace time and is an outgrowth of a change of attitude recently devised by the state defense command at Harrisburg. The State Defense Council said.

Under the revised program the responsibility for future warnings on practice broadcasts as to a crisis or enemy action rests entirely with the Pennsylvania Civilian Defense Council.

The three service commands will notify the state control center at Harrisburg should there be any cause for a state-wide alarm. The state council will then transmit the warning to every county in Pennsylvania.

Warnings will be issued from the state control center to Philadelphia for the southeastern part of the state, to Allentown for the eastern part and to Pittsburgh for the western part. All central counties will be warned directly from Harrisburg.

Chungking July 15 (AP)—The Japanese again encircled the pivotal Hunan city of Hengyang July 10, three days after the Chinese had broken the siege, and it still is surrounded, a Chinese Army spokesman said today.

PARIS ROAD HUBS BOMBED

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, July 15 (AP)—British Lancaster bombers hammered at railroads in the suburbs of Paris early today. This was a climax to widespread night air assaults in which other heavies hit flying bomb installations in France and Mosquitoes ripped into German positions in Normandy and objective in Germany.

The important Villeneuve-St. Georges railroad yards on the southeastern outskirts of Paris gave the Lancasters their target for this morning. Reconnaissance had disclosed large concentrations of rolling stock there, loaded with supplies for the battle area.

Seven bombers were missing from the attack on Villeneuve-St. Georges. Both Lancasters and Halifaxes participated in the night blow on the road rails, which were attacked twice in daylight yesterday by RAF heavy bombers. Flying bombs fell in the southern counties during the night causing damage and casualties.

Blast Barracks

One of the night Mosquito formations used to 60 miles south of Tours, and made a low-level attack on German barracks in a forest. They dropped more than 32 tons of bombs on the buildings. Other Mosquitoes continued their attacks on German communications throughout the night.

The U. S. Army air force announced yesterday a Lancaster attack on targets in the Amiens area resulted in the loss of 10 bombers or escorting fighters. Only 1009 offensive sorties were flown from Britain and Normandy yesterday, but the Allied airmen counted 35 German planes during daylight for the loss of seven. Two other enemy planes were destroyed last night.

American fighter-bombers destroyed 10 railroad cars and 12 locomotives and cut rail lines at 13 points in yesterday's attacks on enemy transportation south of the battlefield.

ROOSEVELT IS SAID TO FAVOR WALLACE AGAIN

By JACK BELL
Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Vice presidential candidacies popped up like lightning rods over Chicago's loop today as anxious Democrats awaited word from National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan on the White House attitude towards their ticket's second place entry.

Hannegan reportedly had in his possession a letter from President Roosevelt to the party convention, which will begin the business next week of nominating him for a fourth term, expressing preference for the renomination of vice president Henry Agard Wallace, but leaving the final decision to the delegates.

With many candidates contending that Wallace cannot win on his own steam, the list of those who hastened to make themselves available for any lightning that might strike lengthened hourly.

Among the latest whose names came to the front were four Senators: Alfred (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, Claude Pepper of Florida, Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Elbert Thomas of Utah.

Broughton, Byrd

These, along with Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, Supreme Court Justice, William O. Douglas, War Mobilization Director James S. Byrnes, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois and Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, were listed in pre-convention lobby gossip as in a receptive frame of mind.

In contrast, photographed brochures were in circulation urging the availability of Governor Joseph M. Broughton of North Carolina.

Like Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who ran for first and got second place on the Republican ticket, Broughton was about the only openly avowed candidate for vice president. Even Wallace has not said publicly that his hat is in the ring.

In another quarter, a quiet move was reported under way to bring the name of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, consistent critic of the administration, before the convention as a vice-presidential candidate.

Price Panel Ends Ceiling Price Case

Junior Francis Erb, York Springs, was X-rayed at the Warner hospital Friday evening for an injury to his right ankle caused when a tractor ran over his foot while he was employed by H. T. Doherty, York Springs R. 2.

Among those who have been admitted to the hospital are Dolores Begner, East Stevens street; Jane Flickinger, Arendtsville; Nancy Lee, Gettysburg R. 3, and Howard Harman and Glenn Hartzell, of Cash-town, all of whom underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils; and Mrs. Richard Smith, York street.

Those discharged include Mrs. John Kaas, Rocky Ridge, Md., Barbara Ann Pohl, Gettysburg; Daniel and Joyce Swoops, Waynesboro; David Kregel and Dallas Duncan, both of Emmitsburg; Elmer Warren, Gettysburg and Mrs. C. Chester Plank and infant daughter, Loraine Christine, York Springs.

X-ray For Tractor Injury To Ankle

Since no agreement could be reached by Elmer E. Leppo, York, and Mac McCarty, New Oxford, concerning a claimed ceiling price violation on the part of Mr. McCarty, the case was ordered closed by the York price panel at a meeting Friday night in York.

Mr. Leppo had charged Mr. McCarty with demanding $475 for a 1937 Chevrolet pick-up truck, the ceiling price of which was said to be $335. Denying the charges, Mr. McCarty claimed that Mr. Leppo had paid $310 for the truck. The case was ordered closed as the local OPA stated that no refunds can be made to the purchaser on this type of truck but must be paid to the Treasury department, Washington.

It was stated that the panel has no further authority in the case.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 15 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Paul W. Newgarden, commander of the 10th Armored Division; two colonels, and at least two other persons were instantly killed near here last night when an Army plane crashed and exploded during a heavy storm.

Renn Lawrence, commanding a combat unit, and the others had been en route from Fort Knox, Ky., to Augusta, Ga., where a troop review was planned at Camp Gordon today to celebrate the second anniversary of Gen. Newgarden's command.

Col. Howard Clark, Fort Oglethorpe public relations officer, said their rash occurred at the height of a wind and electrical storm. Portions of uniforms and insignia were found.

An Evening Thought
I have been more and more convinced, the more I think of it, that, in general, pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes.—Ruskin.

Just Folks

The way to pride and happiness is not a narrow lane,
But one where two walk side by side in sunshine and the rain.
And always it is wide enough for one or several more,
And always it begins and ends at home's familiar door.

The way to life's enduring joys may be a little street
Where heart and mind of man and wife in common purpose meet;
Where all that happens, good or ill, or weather foul or fair,
Is looked upon alike by both as meant for both to share.

Some think the narrow one-way path is easier to fare,
That less of grief and agony the single heart may bear,
But who elects the selfish lane, and scorns the pathway wide,
May some day wish he'd chosen roads for walking side by side.

The way to pride and happiness runs often deep through woe,
And heavy is the weight at times the hearts of two must know,
But children race the wider lanes, and there are friendships true,
With love at last to close the book when there's no more to do.

Today's Talk

PRAYER

There are so many recorded examples of heroism in this war that but few get public attention. There was one I read, however, that I am sure stirred the heart and spirit of all who read it. Off the coast of Elba an Allied ship was blown out of the water. Men were scattered everywhere. The story I read was of one of these men.

This chap, after an experience that he said was nothing short of hell, finally succeeded in reaching the shore after a swim of over three miles. He came near not making it, and when it seemed that he would not—he prayed. He lived to write his story.

Men and officers in this war, and the folks at home, have prayed as never before in the history of the world. On Liberation Day the whole world of free men and women prayed. Soldiers have prayed, and are now praying, who never prayed before.

Marshal Foch in the last World War prayed. President Wilson prayed. Washington prayed. Lincoln prayed. The Pilgrims prayed. The Colonists prayed. Said Tennyson:

"More things are wrought by prayer Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice Rise like a fountain for me night and day."

We are out of ourselves—selfish in the mind of God—when we pray. The entire soul is in the hands of our Maker—and He hears and understands. The results of prayer are beyond our inadequate appraisal. They rest with Him who hears.

Bravery is exalted in prayer. Men who pray are brave. Through prayer the hand of Confidence is extended, and the spirit is uplifted. Neither a praying man nor a nation can ever know defeat. The free nations of the world adopted prayer at their birth, and it will sustain them through every travail.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

Would you call a driver who speeds on slippery roads a skidder?

At this time of year many drivers will be aware of loss of gasoline around the carburetor when the engine is stopped. This is not leakage in the ordinary sense, but a condition known as percolating. Fuel gets so hot in the carburetor bowl it actually boils. Just like coffee in a percolator it tries to rise. In doing so it finds ways of escaping. What this boils down to is the fact that the next morning the engine is hard to start because the float bowl has to be filled up by crank-and action of the fuel pump before there is gasoline enough to fire. Some carburetors are equipped with anti-percolating features. One thing that helps cut down on this problem is keeping the engine running as cool as possible in summer.

One For The Book

A reader who had been having a difficult time checking a puzzling skip in the engine of his car writes me to say that he found the answer in the metal fork which served to hold in its prongs the ignition wires. Apparently several of the wires were a bit frayed where they passed through this fork holder so that high tension current jumped from one wire to another when voltage was high. He has replaced this with a plastic fork which insulates the wires, and of course he had also replaced the wiring.

You may not know it but if there is excessive slack in the arm that actuates the fuel pump you can have it taken up by having the arm built up. This is frequently done not only to eliminate noise and play but also to provide better leverage and thus boost fuel pump pressure.

In all cases where difficulty re-starting a warm engine is due to the cylinders having too much over-vaporized gas there is no problem at all in starting after the engine has cooled off. If you can't start by opening the throttle wide (choke unused and the accelerator pedal not pumped up) a quick re-start is usually assured if you take out the spark plugs, crank a few turns, put the plugs back again and keep cranking. This is a quick way to clear the cylinders and to get in some more air.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Every now and again some old timer gets to telling how he used to clean out carbon with water in the good old days, and then I get a flood of letters from motorists who think they must have overlooked the answer to an old-old problem. One asks: 'Can carbon be removed by feeding water through the carburetor air intake when the engine is well warmed up? Wouldn't the steam thus formed at least remove the flaky carbon?'"

"In the old days, we should remember, there was just as much controversy over this process as there is over many a motor topic today. My experience with the job was that it did help motor performance, but often cracked the spark plug porcelain. The best answer I can give now is that if you substitute a good brand of gun solvent for water you will not only dislodge a little of the carbon but will improve valve action and help free gums from the piston rings. It's a good idea to do this when shutting off the engine for the night."

Owners of cars with aluminum cylinder heads should be especially careful to use rust inhibitor. Weakest spots in such heads are around the holes through which water passes from the block to the head, known as water transfer holes. It isn't so much that enlargement of such holes through corrosion will slow down water circulation but that the dislodged metal may be carried forward to the radiator where it will lodge and cause serious clogging.

Straight On Cooling

You'll be hearing a lot about it after the war so you might as well get familiar with the term "direct cooling" now. It is merely what you originally knew as air cooling, but it pays to consider the new terminology at this time because it helps you avoid a misunderstanding about so-called "water cooling." Actually there is no such thing as water cooling. All internal combustion engines are essentially air cooled, but majority of them are equipped with an elaborate plumbing system which serves merely as a means of transferring heat to where the air can strike it. You can easily see where use of such a fluid intermediary is known as indirect-cooling as opposed to the direct type which may come into popularity again after the war. The fact that tank engines are direct-cooled has opened many an eye to the fact that perhaps we have been carrying around all this plumbing unnecessarily.

Rust inhibitor helps prolong the life of the motor thermostat. This it does by slowing down, even preventing, rusting of the thermostat valve. It also prevents build-up of rust on the thermostatic coil, thus insuring quicker response.

If no water comes from the rear drain of the motor block don't assume you have drained off all the water through the petcock at the bottom of the radiator. Open the block drain and insert a long nail to clear away any grease or sediment that has settled at the bottom. Then water will start coming out.

Tip To Top Holders

Every time I see a driver going along with one hand on the wheel and the other holding the left edge of the car's top I feel like flashing him a warning. This is, of course, one of the silliest of driving habits, but it is becoming a highly dangerous one. What if a tire should blow? We aren't driving at the speeds we did before the war but because tires are so much older and weaker we are faced with the same danger of having the wheels snatched out of our hands in the tire suddenly went down. Both hands on the wheel mister! The top will hold up all right without your help.

Does it surprise you to realize that every fourth car on the road is ten years of more old? And does this realization suggest a very special reason why you should do everything possible to encourage greatly accelerated car care? Neglected cars are a menace to everyone. They come at you down the road, and how do you know but what grease starved front wheel bearing will give out, or that the old car's steering gear will suddenly give up the ghost. The more care you give your car the more others are encouraged to do likewise. Every inspection these days is something of a lifesaver for someone. Just because cars are old is no reason to rule them out; it is just that owners of old cars are apt to be more negligent when the situation actually calls for just the opposite viewpoint.

Q. The generator cut-out points on my car stay closed just often enough to run down the battery. I have had no less than three current regulators installed, and still have the trouble. All connections have been checked; and no grounds have been observed. F. K. L.

A. I suspect the generator. Run the engine at a car speed of about 20 mph. and close the cut-out points by hand. If the ammeter then fails to show charge the generator is at fault.

Q. Not until recently has the engine of my car started to burn oil. Mileage has always been exceptionally good, now it is definitely on the bad side. What would cause the sudden change? B. McV.

A. Oil mileage is apt to drop suddenly, or seem to. Sometimes it is due to not having the right grade of oil in the engine. Or there may have developed a leak in the system, at the valve cover plates, the timing gear case or at the rear main bearing.

ARMY NEED FOR MORE TENTS IS WORRYING WPB

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Army has put in such a terrific demand for tents that War Production Board officials are in knots.

They say that as of now the textile mills can meet only 50 per cent of the requirements.

They say this, too: They may not even be able to fill the full order for tents by cutting into other lines.

So far they have ordered 8 per cent of the yarn, intended for tire cords, to be diverted to manufacturing the duck material which goes into tents.

Cut Upholstery

Very shortly they will cut into upholstery and corduroy manufacturing so the duck can be turned out.

They may decide to cut the manufacture of denim which goes, just as corduroy does, into making work clothes. Most of those work clothes, however, happen to be for military purposes.

And they may even decide to dip further into the cord tire field for more yarn. This would mean fewer new tires.

This is the story the officials tell: In August, 1942, the military began canceling its orders for tent material.

But at the start of this year the Army began to see fresh need for more duck. By March the Army requested 300 million yards of duck by the end of 1944.

Demands Increase

Since then the demands have increased. The Navy and Maritime Commission also need duck.

Here are some of the reasons: In the South Pacific milder is destructive of tents. In the island hopping campaign of the Pacific, tents are left behind on seized islands as bases of further operations.

In Italy, because of wide destruction of towns and civilian dwellings, Army commanders turned over large supplies of tents to homeless people.

The same will be true in the wake of the invasion of western Europe.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 15 (AP)—The football Tigers (ex-Dodgers) will begin training at Abilene, Tex., Aug. 6, and General Manager Tom Gallery says he'll guarantee a slight reduction of 20 pounds per man—including himself—likely Tom would lose more only he'll have the privilege of staying in the air-conditioned confines of Hardin-Simmons U. while the athletes will have to venture out for morning and evening workouts.

The Tigers also will engage the Redskins in the Rocky Mountain area's first all-pro game at Ogden, Utah, Aug. 29. Gov. Herbert Maw, one of the sponsors, looks for a crowd of 18,000. Add what's in a name dept.: Ty Cobb Donaldson has just been placed on the voluntarily retired list of the Kingsport, Tenn., Appalachian league club.

NOMINATION SECONDED Announcing that he has signed heavyweight Tony Shucro to fight George Parks in Washington, July 24, Jimmy Johnston adds that his guy ought to get a medal. . . . Tony stiffened the German champ, Adolf Heusser, in 1938 "right in front of Goebbels and Goering, and he says he'd have done the same thing to them if he'd known what they were up to." But Shucro was disqualified for what the German referee called "unfair fighting," so you can figure what would have happened if he had carried out the rest of the program.

SHORTS AND SHELLS Notre Dame's Jake Kline is making the first name to organize a college baseball coaches' association. Loud cheers. . . . Henry (Bow) Frnka, Tulsa U. coach, announces a "ceiling" price of five bucks for the accumulated wisdom of eight grid tutors for his first coaching school next month. . . . When John Lowe, 18-year-old pitcher for the Delta Rebels in New Orleans, came up with a sore right arm after pitching two no-hit games, he merely switched to southpaw hurling and won a five-hitter. . . . Brian Bell, Jr., son of the late head of the Associated Press Washington bureau, has just entered the University of Virginia. He was a three-sport athlete at Washington's Western high school and editor of the school newspaper.

SERVICE DEPT. Flight Lieutenants Warren Stevens and Lew Hayman, RCAF, former Syracuse U. athletes who went to Canada to coach, have been revisiting the Syracuse campus and report that Canada, too, is looking for a post-war sports boom. . . . Joe Skladany, former Carnegie Tech coach, likely will be around the Bainbridge Naval Training Center long enough to help coach the Commodores next fall. He's in physical instructor's school. . . . Sgt. Taft Wright, former White Sox outfielder now at the Greensboro, N. C., overseas replacement depot, says he needed four years to make the big league grade once, and he wonders how long it will take after the war: "That job isn't going to be waiting for me," he explains.

Norristown, Pa., July 14 (AP) Mrs. Helen Wucherer, 41, was sentenced today to an indeterminate term in the women's industrial school, Muncy, Pa., on a charge of murder in the second degree in the shooting of her husband, August, real estate salesman and high school teacher, whom neighbors called a "model husband."

ing. Even a loose spark plug will allow oil to suck up into the respective cylinder.

Q. What can I do to check breakage of valve springs? My service man believes this is due to condensation. L. B. W.

A. He's right about this. Short runs prevent the engine from heating up normally, resulting in excessive dilution of oil. Since this oil circulates to the valve compartment it will carry corrosive water and acids directly to the valve springs. Change oil more frequently. Run up a steep hill in second gear when the engine is well warmed up to burn off diluent.

Q. The engine of my car did not perform well when driving up in the mountains last week. It runs all right now.

A. Chances are that the air cleaner is clogged, thus enriching the mixture at a time when the engine needed more air to compensate for the lighter air of the higher altitude.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

Chapter 13

Louise led her guests into the hallway and, in spite of close quarters, managed to get hats and scarves put away in the tiny space she had made in the closet. As she did so, she noticed that all the girls had felt the urge to dress up.

Louise felt a sudden pang of regret that she had not postponed her party. These girls were trying to look their best for her sake. They wanted to make Angel conscious of them as real people, to make a good impression. And it was all so useless! Louise was beginning to learn that Angel never saw a woman as a personality; that she looked straight through the woman to the man beyond.

It was almost three-quarters of an hour later that Angel "made an entrance." Steve Turcot had already arrived. He was a slim man and not very tall, but he carried himself like a drum-major, and the warmth of his smile was enough to draw everyone in the room into a laughing, intimate circle.

"I can see why he's so good at his job," Louise had a chance to whisper to Dick. "You can't help liking him right away."

Suddenly Dick looked up. The others followed his glance. Angel stood in the doorway.

She had chosen to wear a suit—a black suit that looked all the more tailored by contrast with the soft dresses of the other girls. The jacket buttoned high—only a tiny edge of white ruffle showed around the slender column of her throat. It was a costume that should have said quietly, "I'm grieving. I want to stay in the background of this gay throng." Instead, with Angel's sweetly wistful smile, and the glorious halo of her hair, the ensemble demanded attention—shouted her loss.

Louise jumped up quickly and drew her sister into the room. The girls eyed her warily, and Angel returned their greetings with a quiet sadness that made them seem over-effusive. It was obvious that every girl in the room felt uncomfortable and over-dressed. And there was no doubt of the way the men felt. Dick Stanley practically took possession and sat her carefully in the chair he had been occupying as if she were too fragile to stand long.

"All this—and you sing too?" inquired Steve Turcot, ignoring Dick, and drawing his own chair close to Angel.

Angel spread her hands in a deprecating gesture. Louise noticed that she had taken off the bright red nail polish she habitually wore. Her nails were colorless, but polished to a smooth luster.

"It isn't that I can sing so well," she said in the softly husky voice she used when she thought it worth while. "But if there is any little thing I can do—anything at all—to cheer those who are working so hard for victory, I feel that I—I just must. . . ."

She stopped, visibly overcome by her feelings. "And that's just what I didn't want to say," she said with a pretty show of annoyance at her own words.

NAZI SCREAMS FOR PEACE IS AGE OLD STUFF SAYS OBSERVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It is further proof of the desperate straits of Hitlerdom that would be found in Nazi Minister Joseph Goebbels' latest publication which the United States office of war information describes as "an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

Goebbels' plea is contained in an article distributed by the official German DNB agency and recorded in this country by the federal communications commission. It isn't by any means the first effort of its kind made recently by the Hitlerites, since there have been at least half a dozen feelers put out by Berlin. However, it represents a monumental display of brass, coming as it does on top of the Nazi threat to "turn Europe into a maelstrom of destruction" in an attempt to make the Allies come to terms.

Unscrupulous Murderer

This is the same demagogic Goebbels whom I heard whipping a crowd of fifty thousand in Berlin up to war fever back at the time of Munich. To give the devil his due, he is a past master at tub-thumping and is clever in much of his propaganda. He has the knack of giving the tinge of truth to his lies. However, he's one of the most unscrupulous of Hitler's murderous gang and has been one of the Führer's mainstays in making war against the Allies whom he now begs to be lenient. He's a dangerous man.

Those of us who were at Versailles to see the last peace made with Germany, and who watched the subsequent manipulations of Prussian militarism and Hitlerism at close range, have not the slightest doubt that the Germans will make war on us again if we don't smash them now. Indeed, Allied intelligence agents have found ample proof that the Prussian high command, which long has recognized that the Reich couldn't win the war, has been planning for a comeback twenty-five years hence.

Must Resist 2 Isms

The Allied problem of how to deal with Prussian aggression isn't new to this war or to the last. This militarism has been the plague of Europe for many decades. There can be no peace until Prussianism and its running mate, Nazism, are literally wiped out.

The argument made by many of those who advocate lenience towards the Nazis is that the demand of unconditional surrender will only make Germany fight harder and longer. I don't believe that represents the consensus of professional observers. The general view is that, lenience or no lenience, the Hitlerites will quit when they have their bellies full and not before.

Anyway, the Allied peoples as a whole seem firmly determined to see the thing through to a finish. The British house of lords reflected the general attitude very well a couple of days ago when Lord Vassall, exponent of using the mailed fist on Germany, denounced the Nazi regime. He secured a government pledge that "the whole devilish (Gestapo) organization will be rooted out," and that the German people and Army will have to share the onus of the Nazi crimes.

Wife Goebbels' appeal for peace will be wasted on the desert air so far as the Allies are concerned, it's worth noting that it does serve to prepare the German public for the surrender which must come sooner or later. Probably the propaganda minister had this in mind.

New Raid Warning System In Effect

Harrisburg, July 15 (AP)—A new raid warning system goes into effect throughout Pennsylvania Monday night at 6 o'clock.

The system may become the commonwealth's permanent plan of dealing with all civilian disasters even in peacetime and is an outgrowth of a change of procedure recently devised by the third service command at Baltimore. The State Defense Council said.

Under the revised program the responsibility for future warnings on practice balloons or raid drills or enemy action rests entirely with the Pennsylvania Civilian Defense Council.

The third service command will notify the state control center at Harrisburg should there be any cause for a state-wide alarm. The state control will then transmit the warning to every county in Pennsylvania.

Warnings will be backed from the state control center to Philadelphia for the southeastern part of the state, to Allentown for the eastern part and to Pittsburgh for the western part. All central counties will be warned directly from Harrisburg.

Chumming July 15 (AP)—The Japanese again encircled the pivotal Hainan city of Hengyang July 10, three days after the Chinese had broken the siege, and it still is surrounded, a Chinese Army spokesman said today.

PARIS ROAD HUBS BOMBED

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, July 15 (AP)—British Lancaster bombers hammered airfields in the suburbs of Paris early today. This was a climax to widespread night air assaults in which other heavy bombers flying bomb installations in France and Mosquitoes ripped into German positions in Normandy and objective in Germany.

The important Villeneuve-St. Georges railroad yards on the southeastern outskirts of Paris gave the Lancasters their target for this morning. Reconnaissance had disclosed large concentrations of rolling stock there, loaded with supplies for the battle area.

Seven bombers were missing from the attack on Villeneuve-St. Georges. Both Lancasters and Halifaxes participated in the night blow on the railroads, which were attacked twice in daylight yesterday by RAF heavy bombers. Flying bombs fell on the southern counties during the night causing damage and casualties.

Blast Barracks

One of the night Mosquito formations sped to 60 miles south of Tours, and made a low-level attack on German barracks in a forest. They dumped more than 32 tons of bombs on the buildings. Other Mosquitoes continued their attacks on German communications throughout the night.

The U. S. Army air force announced yesterday's Liberator attack on targets in the Ardennes area resulted in no loss of bombers or escorting fighters. Only 1000 offensive sorties were flown from Britain and Normandy yesterday, but the Allied air force downed 25 German planes during daylight for the loss of seven. Two other enemy planes were destroyed last night.

American fighter-bombers destroyed 167 railroad cars and 12 locomotives and cut rail lines at 13 points in yesterday's attacks on enemy transportation south of the battlefield.

ROOSEVELT IS SAID TO FAVOR WALLACE AGAIN

By JACK BELL
Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Vice presidential candidacies popped up like lightning rods over Chicago's loop today as anxious Democrats awaited word from National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan on the White House attitude towards their ticket's second place entry.

Hannegan reportedly had in his possession a letter from President Roosevelt to the party convention, which will begin the business next week of nominating him for a fourth term, expressing preference for the renomination of vice president Henry Agard Wallace, but leaving the final decision to the delegates.

With many candidates contending that Wallace cannot win on his own steam, the list of those who hastened to make themselves available for any lightning that might strike lengthened hourly.

Among the latest whose names came to the front were four Senators: Alfred (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky; Claude Pepper of Florida; Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming; and Elbert Thomas of Utah.

Broughton, Byrd

These, along with Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, Supreme Court Justice, William O. Douglas, War Mobilization Director James S. Byrnes, Senator Scott L. Lucas of Illinois and Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, were listed in pre-convention lobby gossip as in a receptive frame of mind.

In contrast, "photographed" brothers were in circulation, urging the availability of Governor Joseph M. Broughton of North Carolina.

Like Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who ran for first and got second place on the Republican ticket, Broughton was about the only openly avowed candidate for vice president. Even Wallace has not said publicly that his hat is in the ring.

In another quarter, a quiet move was reported under way to bring the name of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, consistent critic of the administration, before the convention as a vice-presidential candidate.

Price Panel Ends Ceiling Price Case

Junior Francis Erb, York Springs, was x-rayed at the Warner hospital Friday evening for an injury to his right ankle caused when a tractor ran over his foot while he was employed by H. T. Doherty, York Springs R. 2.

Among those who have been admitted to the hospital are Dolores Bernger, East Stevens street; Jane Flickinger, Arendtsville; Nancy Lee, Gettysburg R. 3, and Howard Harman and Glenn Hartzell, of Cash-town, all of whom underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils; and Mrs. Richard Smith, York street.

Those discharged include Mrs. John Kaas, Rocky Ridge, Md.; Barbara Ann Pohl, Gettysburg; Daniel and Joyce Scoops, Waynesboro; David Kregel and Dallas Duncan, both of Emmitsburg; Elmer Warren, Gettysburg and Mrs. C. Chester Plank and infant daughter, Loraine Christine, York Springs.

X-ray For Tractor Injury To Ankle

Since no agreement could be reached by Elmer E. Leppo, York, and Mac McCarty, New Oxford, concerning a claimed ceiling price violation on the part of Mr. McCarty, the case was ordered closed by the York price panel at a meeting Friday night in York.

Mr. Leppo had charged Mr. McCarty with demanding $45 for a 1937 Chevrolet pick-up truck, the ceiling price of which was said to be $355. Denying the charges, Mr. McCarty claimed that Mr. Leppo had paid $310 for the truck. The case was ordered closed as the local OPA stated that no refunds can be made to the purchaser on this type of truck but must be paid to the Treasury department, Washington. It was stated that the panel has no further authority in the case.

General And Five Others Are Killed

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 15 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Paul W. Newgard, commander of the 10th Armored Division; two colonels, and at least two other persons were instantly killed near here last night when an Army plane crashed and exploded during a heavy storm.

Capt. Lester M. Nichols, public relations officer for the 10th Armored Division at Camp Gordon, Ga., announced the fatalities. He said Gen. Newgard, Col. Renn Lawrence, commanding a combat unit, and the others had been en route from Fort Knox, Ky., to Augusta, Ga., where a troop review was planned at Camp Gordon today to celebrate the second anniversary of Gen. Newgard's command.

Col. Howard Clark, Fort Oglethorpe public relations officer, said the crash occurred at the height of a wind and electrical storm. Portions of uniforms and insignia were found.

BUCKY WALTERS BLANKS CARDS; 15TH VICTORY

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bucky Walters, ace pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, has added a flock of new laurels to his already imposing string.

Last night Walters won his eighth consecutive night game in defeating Mort Cooper and the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 3-0. It was his ninth win under the arc lights in 10 starts this season to rank him as the king of night pitchers.

The shutout was his fifth of the year, tops for pitchers in the majors, and his 34th in his career, which also makes him the shutout king of all active hurlers in the big leagues.

In addition, Bucky became the first major league hurler to notch 15 victories, which puts him in line to become the first pitcher to win 30 games since Dizzy Dean of the Cards achieved that total in 1934.

The Navy, Merchant Marine and the Russians come in for glorification on the Majestic's screen next week but the picturization of war and gore ends with the fantasy of Walt Disney's gentle "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," where "only man (in the form of a witch) is vile."

Action gets underway Monday and Tuesday with Edward G. Robinson and Lynn Bari glorifying the Merchant Marine in "Tampico" which has much to do with the "unsung heroes of the oil tankers who brave the perils of fire, water and enemy subs so that the life blood of vital oil and gas reaches our men fighting overseas," according to the announcements of its coming. Much is made of the fact that Lynn Bari has glamorous limbs, as grandmother would say, according to the press agents who divide their outpouring concerning the coming attraction between Lynn's limbs and Robinson's robustness.

Wednesday Casey Robinson's picture of Russia against the Nazi, titled "Days of Glory" comes to the local screen to give local fans their first view of Tamara Toumanova, a ballerina from Touman, Siberia, and Gregory Peck, distinguished Broadway actor. Peck is commandant of a Russian guerrilla band and Toumanova is a Moscow ballet dancer. The Russian-German battlefront provides the setting.

"The Navy Way" will be shown Thursday and is said to show authentically what might happen to a raw recruit joining the Navy. Also in the picture is a boxing bout which is said to be one of the biggest scenes of the production. Robert Lowery and Jean Parker head the cast.

War and its effects on young love are put behind for Friday and Saturday when Dopey, Grumpy, Happy, Sneezy, Doc, Bashful and Sleepy visit the local theater to banish unhappiness from the lives of Snow White and the Prince along with most children and adults. A new group of youngsters will come out of the theatre whistling "Whistle While You Work," singing "Heigh-Ho" and chuckling over the flora and fauna that inhabit the picture, the first and in many opinions, the best of the animated full length features. Little need be said about the picture, with most everyone remembering it well. Just one bit of information in passing—The music from that famous organ played by the dwarfs was made by blowing on bottles partly filled with water, and the water had to be kept at a constant temperature to keep it from changing its pitch every time the mercury dropped or rose a fraction.

The Reds have completed exactly half their 1944 schedule.

Mackmen Win Two
In another battle of aces, the New York Yankees, behind all-star Hank Borowy, defeated the Boston Red Sox behind their all-star Tex Hughson, 4-3, to enable the Yankees to wrest second place from the Red Sox by a single percentage point.

The Philadelphia Athletics upset the Washington Senators twice by the identical 4-3 score to knock the Nats out of the first division, and pull themselves out of the American league cellar.

After Luman Harris outpitched Johnny Niggeling in the opener, the A's, with Russ Christopher twirling, shattered a jinx of long standing by beating Early Wynn for the first time since he came to the Majors in 1941.

Cubs Spank Bucs
Rookie Steve Gromek pitched and batted the Cleveland Indians to a 14-inning 3-2 victory over the

Lee Oma Beats Lou Nova In 10

Detroit, July 15 (AP)—At one and the same time heavyweight Lee Oma obliged old neighbors and stuck a new feather in his hat. Oma, who began his fighting career in Detroit, added to recent successes in the East by winning a split decision victory over Lou Nova in ten rounds here last night at Olympia stadium.

It was Oma's 19th straight victory leading St. Louis Browns. Gromek gave up eight hits and singled in Ray Mack with the winning run in the 14th.

Pittsburgh outscored the Chicago Cubs four to one, but the Cubs outscored the Pirates, 11 to 5, ending the Bucs' five game winning streak. Tommy O'Brien hit two, and Babe Dahlgren and Pete Coscarart one each for the Pirates, while Stan Hack homered for the Cubs.

Ace Adams relieved Harry Feldman for the Giants in the ninth and shut off a Philly uprising to insure the New Yorkers a 2-1 victory over Philadelphia and Feldman's eighth of the season. Brooklyn and Boston were not scheduled.

tory and Nova's first defeat after 14 triumphs on a comeback. At 207 Nova had a 22-pound advantage in the weights. The 5,057 fans paid $12,730 for the show.

When the decision was announced, Nova collapsed in his corner. Dr. Norman Schlafer, state boxing commission physician, attributed this to sheer exhaustion and put no stock in the theory that the ponderous Van Nuys, Calif., battler was stunned by what he thought a bad decision. The verdict was well received by the fans.

ARMY NEED FOR MORE TENTS IS WORRYING WPB

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Army has put in such a terrific demand for tents that War Production Board officials are in knots.

They say that as of now the textile mills can meet only 50 per cent of the requirements.

They say this, too: They may not even be able to fill the full order for tents by cutting into other lines.

So far they have ordered 8 per cent of the year, intended for tents, to be diverted to manufacturing the duck material which goes into tents.

Cut Upholstery
Very shortly they will cut into upholstery and corduroy manufacturing so the duck can be turned out.

They may decide to cut the manufacture of denim which goes, just as corduroy does, into making work clothes. Most of those work clothes, however, happen to be for military purposes.

And they may even decide to dip further into the cord tire field tomorrow yarn. This would mean fewer new tires.

This is the story the officials tell. In August, 1943, the military began canceling its orders for tent material.

But at the start of this year the Army began to see fresh need for more duck. By March the Army requested 900 million yards of duck by the end of 1944.

Demands Increase
Since then the demands have increased. The Navy and Maritime Commission also need duck.

Here are some of the reasons:
In the South Pacific mudew is destructive of tenting. In the island hopping campaign of the Pacific, tents are left behind on seized islands as bases of further operations.

In Italy, because of wide destruction of towns and civilian dwellings, Army commanders turned over large supplies of tents to homeless people.

The same will be true in the wake of the invasion of western Europe.

An Evening Thought
I have been more and more convinced, the more I think of it, that, in general, pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes.—Ruskin.

Just Folks
The way to pride and happiness is not a narrow lane.
But one where two walk side by side in sunshine and the rain.
And always it is wide enough for one or several more.
And always it begins and ends at home's familiar door.

The way to life's enduring joys may be a little street
Where heart and mind of man and wife in common purpose meet.
Where all that happens, good or ill, or weather foul or fair.
Is looked upon alike by both as meant for both to share.
Some think the narrow one-way path is easier to fare.
That less of grief and agony the single heart may bear.
But who elects the selfish lane, and scorns the pathway wide,
May some day wish he'd chosen roads for walking side by side.

The way to pride and happiness runs often deep through woe,
And heavy is the weight, at times, the hearts of two must know,
But children race the wider lanes, and there are friendships true,
With love at last to close the book when there's no more to do.

Today's Talk
PRAYER
There are so many recorded examples of heroism in this war that but few get public attention. There was one I read, however, that I am sure stirred the heart and spirit of all who read it. Off the coast of Elba an Allied ship was blown out of the water. Men were scattered everywhere. The story I read was of one of these men.
This chap, after an experience that he said was nothing short of hell, finally succeeded in reaching the shore after a swim of over three miles. He came near not making it, and when it seemed that he would not—he prayed. He lived to write his story.
Men and officers in this war, and the folks at home, have prayed as never before in the history of the world. On Liberation Day the whole world of free men and women prayed. Soldiers have prayed, and are now praying, who never prayed before.
Marshal Foch in the last World War prayed. President Wilson prayed. Washington prayed. Lincoln prayed. The Pilgrims prayed. The Colonists prayed. So did Tennessee.
"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice rise like a fountain for me now and day."

We are out of ourselves—selfish in the mind of God—when we pray. The entire soul is in the hands of our Maker—and He hears and understands. The results of prayer are beyond our inadequate appraisal. They rest with Him and He hears.
Bravery is exalted in prayer. Men who pray are brave. Through prayer the hand of Confidence is extended, and the spirit is uplifted. Never a praying man nor a nation can ever know defeat. The free prayers of the world adopted prayers of their birth, and it will come through every man.

Riding with Russell
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

Would you call a driver who speeds on slippery roads a skidder? At this time of year many drivers will be aware of loss of gasoline around the carburetor when the engine is stopped. This is not leakage in the ordinary sense, but a condition known as percolating. Fuel gets so hot in the carburetor bowl it actually boils. Just like coffee in a percolator it tries to rise. In doing so it finds ways of escaping. What this boils down to is the fact that the next morning the engine is hard to start because the float bowl has to be filled up by cranking and action of the fuel pump before there is gasoline enough to fire. Some carburetors are equipped with anti-percolating features. One thing that helps cut down on this problem is keeping the engine running as cool as possible in summer.

One For The Book
A reader who had been having a difficult time checking a puzzling skip in the engine of his car writes me to say that he found the answer in the metal fork which served to hold in its prongs the ignition wires. Apparently several of the wires were a bit frayed where they passed through this fork holder so that high tension current jumped from one wire to another when voltage was high. He has replaced this with a plastic fork which insulates the wires, and of course he had also replaced the wiring.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"In the old days, we should remember, there was just as much controversy over this process as there is over many a motor topic today. My experience with the job was that it did help motor performance, but often cracked the spark plug porcelain. The best answer I can give now is that if you substitute a good brand of gum solvent for water you will not only dislodge a little of the carbon but will improve valve action and help free gums from the piston rings. It's a good idea to do this when shutting off the engine for the night."
Owners of cars with aluminum cylinder heads should be especially careful to use rust inhibitor. Weakest spots in such heads are around the holes through which water passes from the block to the head, known as water transfer holes. It isn't so much that enlargement of such holes through corrosion will slow down water circulation but that the dislodged metal may be carried forward to the radiator where it will lodge and cause serious clogging.

Straight On Cooling
You'll be hearing a lot about it, after the war so you might as well get familiar with the term "direct cooling" now. It is merely what you originally knew as air cooling, but it pays to consider the new terminology at this time because it helps you avoid a misunderstanding about so-called "water cooling." Actually there is no such thing as water cooling. All internal combustion engines are essentially air cooled, but majority of them are equipped with an elaborate plumbing system which serves merely as a means of transferring heat to where the air can strike it. You can easily see where use of such a fluid intermediary is known as indirect-cooling as opposed to the direct type which may come into popularity again after the war. The fact that tank engines are direct-cooled has opened many an eye to the fact that perhaps we have been carrying around all this plumbing unnecessarily.

Rust Inhibitor helps prolong the life of the motor thermostat. This it does by slowing down, even preventing, rusting of the thermostat valve. It also prevents build-up of rust on the thermostatic coil, thus insuring quicker response.
If no water comes from the rear drain of the motor block don't assume you have drained off all the water through the petcock at the bottom of the radiator. Open the block drain and insert a long nail to clear away any grease or sediment that has settled at the bottom. Then water will start coming out.

enough to run down the battery. I have had no less than three current regulators installed, and still have the trouble. All connections have been checked; and no grounds have been observed. F. K. L.
A. I suspect the generator. Run the engine at a car speed of about 20 mph, and close the cut-out points by hand. If the ammeter then fails to show charge the generator is at fault.
Q. Not until recently has the engine of my car started to burn oil. Mileage has always been exceptionally good, now it is definitely on the bad side. What would cause the sudden change? B. McV.
A. Oil mileage is apt to drop suddenly, or seem to. Sometimes it is due to not having the right grade of oil in the engine. Or there may have developed a leak in the system, as the valve cover plates, the timing gear case or at the rear main bearing.

BUCKY WALTERS
BLANKS CARDS,
15TH VICTORY

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bucky Walters, ace pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, has added a flock of new laurels to his already imposing string.

Last night Walters won his eighth consecutive night game in defeating Mori Cooper and the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 3-0. It was his ninth win under the arc lights in 10 starts this season to rank him as the king of night pitchers.

The shutout was his fifth of the year, tops for pitchers in the majors, and his 34th in his career, which also makes him the shutout king of all active hurlers in the big leagues.

In addition, Bucky became the first major league hurler to notch 15 victories, which puts him in line to become the first pitcher to win 30 games since Dizzy Dean of the Cards achieved that total in 1934.

The Navy, Merchant Marine and the Russians come in for glorification on the Majestic's screen next week but the picturization of war and gore ends with the fantasy of Walt Disney's gentle "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," where "only man (in the form of a witch) is vile."

Action gets underway Monday and Tuesday with Edward G. Robinson and Lynn Bari glorifying the Merchant Marine in "Tampico" which has much to do with the "unsung heroes of the oil tankers who brave the perils of fire, water and enemy subs so that the life blood of vital oil and gas reaches our men fighting overseas," according to the announcements of its coming. Much is made of the fact that Lynn Bari has glamorous limbs, as grandmother would say, according to the press agents who divide their outpouring concerning the coming attraction between Lynn's limbs and Robinson's robustness.

DOPEY

War and its effects on young love are put behind for Friday and Saturday when Dopey, Grumpy, Happy, Sleepy, Doc, Bashful and Sneezy visit the local theater to banish unhappiness from the lives of Snow White and the Prince along with most children and adults. A new group of youngsters will come out of the theatre whistling "Whistle While You Work" singing "Heigh-Ho" and chuckling over the flora and fauna that inhabit the picture. The first and in many opinions, the best of the animated full length features. Little need be said about the picture, with most everyone remembering it well. Just one bit of information in passing—The music from that famous organ played by the dwarfs was made by blowing on bottles partly filled with water, and the water had to be kept at a constant temperature to keep it from changing its pitch every time the mercury dropped or rose a fraction.

The Reds have completed exactly half their 1944 schedule.

Blackmen Win Two

In another battle of aces, the New York Yankees, behind all-star Hank Borowy, defeated the Boston Red Sox behind their all-star Tex Hughson, 4-3, to enable the Yankees to wrest second place from the Red Sox by a single percentage point.

The Philadelphia Athletics upset the Washington Senators twice by the identical 4-3 score to knock the Nats out of the first division, and pull themselves out of the American league cellar.

After Luman Harris outpitched Johnny Niggeling in the opener, the A's, with Russ Christopher twirling, shattered a jinx of long standing by beating Early Wynn for the first time since he came to the Majors in 1941.

Southpaw Frank Overmire blanked the Chicago White Sox with two scratch hits to give Detroit a 2-0 victory. The defeat was the White Sox seventh in their last eight games and dropped them into last place.

Cubs Spank Bucs
Rookie Steve Gromek pitched, out and batted the Cleveland Indians to a 14-inning 3-2 victory over the Lyn and Boston were not scheduled.

tory and Nova's first defeat after 14 triumphs on a comeback. At 207 Nova had a 22-pound advantage in the weights. The 5,037 fans paid $12,730 for the show.

When the decision was announced, Nova collapsed in his corner. Dr. Norman Schaefer, state boxing commission physician, attributed this to sheer exhaustion and put no stock in the theory that the ponderous Van Nuy, Calif., batter was stunned by what he thought a bad decision. The verdict was well received by the fans.
